

Inquest Into Death Of William Van Loon

Who Was Found in a Serious Condition on Roadway Near Highmount October 5—First Believed He Was Struck By Hit and Run Driver—Henry Myers First Witness.

An inquest held at the court chambers before Coroner W. N. Jones was held today to inquire into the death of William Van Loon, 62 years old, resident of Bovina, Delaware county, who was found in a serious condition on the roadway near Highmount on October 5. Mr. Van Loon was picked up on the highway and brought to the Kingston Hospital but on arrival here was dead. An autopsy performed by Doctors Jacobson and Rakov at the hospital showed that the man had been struck by some instrument and had sustained a very severe fracture of the leg, numerous abrasions and bruises and a broken back. Death was due to internal hemorrhage from the broken back which severed the large artery which supplies the blood to the lower portion of the body.

At first it was thought Mr. Van Loon had been walking along the road and had been struck by a hit and run auto driver but circumstances which later developed caused the investigation of the case and the calling of an inquest to determine if some other cause was responsible for the death. The matter was first reported to Trooper Cashion and Soules and Deputy Sheriff Joseph Pessner, who made a thorough investigation and as a result of their investigation an inquest was called.

Money Scattered About.
When Van Loon was found he was known to be seriously injured but no statement could be secured. About the place where the man was found near Pine Hill and Highmount, near the Pine Hill cemetery was found a sum of money scattered about. It was known that Van Loon had about $50 some time prior to the inflicting of the injuries but the total found afterwards was less than $30.

Mrs. R. LeFevre appears for the district attorney's office and examined the witnesses.
The man was found near the residence of Henry Myers at Highmount. The Myers place was described by one of the witnesses as a place where the public comes and gets to drink what is wanted and pays for it. Myers says he conducts only a private residence.

Mr. Myers was the first witness called and after he had been examined the other witnesses were excluded from the court room and admitted only as they were examined. This precaution was taken in order that stories might not conform too closely with one another.
Henry Myers called said he had no business. He had worked but was a "sick man" and did not work. He said he was married and had children. He resides with his wife but at present she is away visiting. She was not home on the night of October 5, the Saturday that Van Loon was injured. At that time Mr. Myers and his housekeeper Mrs. Platt were all that composed the family.

Myers said that he first saw Van Loon on Saturday when he came to the Myers house. He appeared to be under the influence of liquor. He came to the door of the Myers house and asked if he might come in and rest on a couch in the sitting room. He came in, went to the couch and went to sleep. He remained there for some time and then got up and went out and that was the last seen of him. Myers did not know Van Loon. Next day the Troopers and Mr. Pessner said the man had been injured and died.

Myers said he never saw the man before he came to the house and knocked on the door and asked permission to lie down. He described the man and said he appeared to be a very nice fellow. He was a gentleman and did not try to pull the "rough stuff". When Van Loon came to the door he came in and asked Mrs. Platt, whom he called "sister", if he might lie down and sleep.

Further examined Mr. Myers said Mr. Richards of Fleischmanns came that afternoon when Van Loon came. It was about 4 o'clock.
There was little conversation. Van Loon sat in the room a short time and then asked to lie down. Mr. Myers said he then went out "down the hill". Van Loon remained about an hour or two on the couch. He woke up and asked Mr. Myers to let him step outside. Myers said he lit the porch light and Van Loon went out. He never came back.

He said his house was composed of two rooms and an outside kitchen on the ground floor and three bedrooms upstairs.
Mrs. Platt and Mr. Myers were at home when Van Loon came. Mrs. Myers was not at home. She was in Gold Brook visiting. No one came in while Van Loon was on the couch according to Myers. He said he served nothing to drink.

It was after dark that Van Loon went out. It was necessary to light the porch light. It might have been 5 o'clock. Although Van Loon was

Strike Threatens New York Oil and Gasoline Supply

New York, Oct. 11 (P).—Having just escaped a threatened shortage of fresh fruits and vegetables because of a strike of truck drivers, New York today faced possibility of a gasoline and oil shortage as a result of a strike of 3,000 oil truck drivers.

The strike, which started in Brooklyn last Saturday, had spread today to Manhattan, parts of Queens and Nassau counties and other sections of Long Island. Despite the efforts of the nine companies involved to deliver the gasoline and oil by emergency crews, many filling stations reported their supplies were exhausted.

Officials of the fire department and the department of hospitals were devising plans to replenish the fuel supplies at the city buildings should the strike be prolonged.
At Bellevue Hospital, where the supply of gasoline was down to less than one day's requirement, a special tank wagon under an escort of motorcycle police delivered 900 gallons, sufficient for nine days.

Should a sudden cold snap develop it was feared many apartment houses and hotels equipped with oil burning furnaces would be affected.

Despite police and private guards on trucks manned by emergency crews, seven trucks were attacked by strikers. The drivers in some cases were beaten and the gasoline dumped into the streets. The strikers, who are members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, demand an increase from $35 to $47.50 a week, an eight-hour day and time and one-half pay for overtime.

KILLED TWO WOMEN INJURED THREE CHILDREN

Reading, Pa., Oct. 11 (P).—An automobile plowed into a group of women and children walking along the road at Fairview, near here, last night, killing two women and injuring three children.
They were bound for the wedding of a relative and when news of the accident reached the home the wedding was postponed. The dead were Mrs. Viola C. Strouse, 33, wife of assistant Fire Chief William Strouse of Reading, and her sister, Mrs. Bertha Burkett, 34.

Charles Gerth, 31, of Mohnton, driver of the automobile, was taken into custody by state police.
Shot a Bull Moose.
Floyd Ackley, proprietor of the North Main street garage in Ellenville, returned Tuesday from a Canadian hunting trip on which he shot a 1600-pound bull moose.

under the influence of liquor when he came in he was apparently recovered when he left. He walked straight.
Not until next morning did Mr. Myers learn that there had been an accident and Van Loon was dead. He heard it first when the Troopers and Mr. Pessner arrived.

At that time Mr. Myers said he had told the same story. He said he told the officers that Van Loon had been at his house the night before. He said he knew nothing of finding the man on the road Saturday night. He does not know who found the injured man.

Mrs. Platt has been housekeeper for about 10 months at the Myers house. Mr. Myers said Mrs. Platt and he went to Fleischmanns Saturday afternoon and came home together. He knew where Mrs. Platt was at all times while she worked for him except on an occasion four months ago when she went to visit her son. At Fleischmanns they had gone into the A. & P. store and purchased supplies. He had told the phone while there. He had had a phone in his house for many years.

He heard no harsh words as to whether Van Loon had money he did not know. The first he knew Van Loon had money was when he was told that they found money scattered about the place where the injured man was on the road.
Mr. Van Loon did not spend any money in the Myers place.

Told Everything He Knew.
The witness said he had told everything he knew. He did not know how the man came to his death except he heard he had been hit by a car. He said he did not know where the man was found until Thursday of this week when he was told it had been in front of his own home. His house, he said, was about 75 or 100 feet from the main highway. The spot where the man was found had not been pointed out to him. He heard no unusual noise of cars on the night the injury took place.

Four Killed at Grade Crossing
Scranton, Pa., Oct. 11 (P).—Four men were instantly killed early today at Dupont, near here, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Lehigh Valley locomotive on a grade crossing. The car was reduced to a mass of wreckage and was dragged along the tracks for more than 150 yards.

The dead: Frank Teraci, 50, and his son, Chris, 13; Charles Cagliari, 50, and his son, Michael, 29. All were residents of Dunmore and were on their way to the mine where they were employed.

May Not Finish Tariff Bill at Special Session

Some Rate Schedules May Take Up a Week or More—And Not One of the 10 Has Been Touched as Yet.

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP).—The task of getting the tariff bill out of the way before the special session, ends in December appeared increasingly hopeless today to many senators.

Numerous controversies, some of which, like that over sugar imports, are expected to consume a week or more, are certain to grow out of the rate schedules. And with only 40 legislative days left for the special session to continue, the rate schedules—10 of them—haven't been reached yet.

A dozen or more individual amendments, to be disposed of before the rate can be taken up, still confronted the chamber today.
There is talk of a move by the coalition of Democrats and Independent Republicans, which has repeatedly defeated the regular Republicans on the flexible tariff policy and lesser issues, to move to dispense with the regular order and take up the agriculture schedule first.

By bringing the farm rates to the support as many increases in that schedule as its members desire, and afterward to oppose industrial increases generally.
Publican leaders, however, have indicated they would combat such a move as in violation of the unanimous consent agreement to consider the schedules in their numerical turn, agriculture being seventh.

A move to bring the export debenture farm relief issue into debate before the rate schedules are reached also is regarded as a possibility that could easily cause more or less delay.
Another is the proposal of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, to send the bill back to the Finance Committee with instructions to limit revision to agricultural products.

With pressure for time becoming increasingly apparent, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, has reiterated minority party assertions that "the fault will lie with the administration" if a tariff bill is not enacted during the special session.

The Republican leadership, though taking quite a different view, are not optimistic that a bill will be passed. Their worries are increased, by the thought that the President might not approve of continuing tariff revision into the regular session, and that this would mean no tariff revision at all.

Many at Clinic in Ponckhockie

The first of the series of free diphtheria clinics held Thursday afternoon in Santa Maria Hall on North street was largely attended, eighty-six children receiving their first injection of toxin antitoxin. The next clinic in the hall will be held next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Thirty-six families were represented in the eighty-six children that attended the clinic, and 94 per cent of the children were under ten years of age. This is the age that children should be immunized from diphtheria. According to the state health department the greatest number of diphtheria cases occur among children between five and ten years old, while the greatest number of deaths from the disease occur between the ages of six months and five years.

"Take for example the recent appointment of a commission to appraise damages when the Pine Hill sewerage system was to be built. They applied to Judge McNamee to appoint the commission and he appointed three Democrats. If you want the value of the lands to be taken in this district decided by commissioners of appraisal who will be more apt to adopt the values given by the experts employed by the city of New York all you have to do is to vote for a Democratic judge of the supreme court."

What assurance have you that the commissioners of appraisal to be appointed will be fair and impartial if appointed by a Republican judge. A recent example is that of the action taken by Justice Staley when the city of Albany applied for a commission to pass on values and Judge Staley appointed as members of that commission the president of the real estate board of Albany, a prominent banker of that city and the third member was a layman with ordinary common sense."

This fall, he continued, the voters of this district are called upon to decide whether they want to elect a judge whose decisions have never been reversed by the higher courts or a judge whose every decision that has been appealed has been reversed.

Red Cross Regional Meeting

There will be a regional conference of the Red Cross held in Poughkeepsie on Thursday, October 17, at Alumnus House, Vassar College. There will be an address by Dr. Mac Cracken, president of the college, and the Westchester Chapter will present a Pageant showing the Junior Red Cross activities. A luncheon will be served at noon and all Kingston Red Cross members who would like to attend this luncheon are asked to notify E. E. Oughtreave, treasurer of the Ulster County Chapter, at the Supreme Court Chambers in the Court House on Wall street. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance from Kingston and Ulster county.

Today is the first day of registration in Kingston and the polls, which opened at 10 o'clock this morning, will remain open until 10 o'clock this evening. The same hours will prevail on Saturday. If you have not registered you cannot vote at the November election.

Conference on Tuberculosis at Governor Clinton

Formulate Plans For Sale of Christmas Seals at Regional Meeting Here—State Officials at Saturday's Session.

Regional meetings today and Saturday of the Tuberculosis Conference, with representatives from the state and local committees of Ulster, Orange, Columbia, Dutchess and Niagara counties, are being held at the Governor Clinton Hotel to formulate plans for the sale of Christmas seals and bring the tuberculosis problem before the people.

The conference today was devoted entirely to the preparation of the Christmas seal sales campaign. The committees took up problems in salesmanship, campaign methods, workers' knowledge tests and publicity materials.

Saturday's program will include a luncheon at which Miss Louise Strachan, child health director of the national association, will be the principal speaker. Mayor Edgar Dempsey and various county doctors will also present different sides of the tuberculosis problem, in an effort to bring the question to the public's attention.

Other state officials to be present at the Saturday meeting will include Robert Osbourne, assistant worker on the state tuberculosis and public health committee, and Miss Ethel Grosscup, state advisor of child health instruction.

The Saturday session, which will last most of the day, will include the following projects: educational methods, newspaper publicity, public concern of health, study of staff personnel, health for school children, employment of nurses, operation of clinics, fresh air schools, health of preschool children, county health departments, new developments of health problems, legislation for health, team work to get results, study of treatment of after-care patients and the extension of relief to tuberculosis patients.

Both meetings are preliminary to a campaign for funds and the creating of public opinion and interest in the tuberculosis question. The quotas for the drive workers in the various cities and counties has not yet been announced, but the committees expect to have their campaigns planned before tomorrow evening.

The students now enrolled come from 27 states, two foreign countries and the District of Columbia.

In order to care for the increased enrollment five new members have been added to the faculty, bringing the total number of faculty members to thirty-two. Improvements have also been made to the physical equipment of the college which is located on a large ninety acre campus.

JURY ACQUITS "BIG KORNEY" OF MURDER.

Buffalo, Oct. 11 (AP).—James W. Higgins, police commissioner of Buffalo, said today he was "thoroughly disgusted" with the acquittal last night of John "Big Korney" Kzlatowski. The jury returned the verdict of not guilty on a first degree murder charge last night.

Korney had been accused of leading a payroll holdup at the Feder Manufacturing Company plant in which John Ferrarion, an employee, was killed.

The youthful, self-confessed bootlegger still faces a robbery charge before he is released from jail. It is not thought, however, that the indictment on this charge will mean anything, as he was acquitted on the far more serious count.

TRIGGER OF GUN CAUGHT IN FENCE, BOY IS KILLED.

Philip Kelly, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly, who reside on a farm just east of Cragmoor, near Pine Bush, was almost instantly killed Sunday afternoon near his home when his .22 calibre rifle was accidentally discharged as he climbed a fence. The trigger of the gun apparently caught in the barbed-wire strand of the fence.

The annual Fall Display of Uptown Merchants—Fall Display Will Be Continued Today and Saturday—The Awards.

The annual Fall Display of Uptown Merchants Association Thursday evening brought out a large crowd of people interested in what the merchants had to offer and the public was not disappointed in the efforts of the merchants. Practically all of the business places in the uptown section had cooperated in the display and there were many very beautiful windows. In fact the committee which acted as judges found it had a real task to perform in selecting the winner to whom the cup will be awarded for the coming season.

However, after viewing all of the windows the judges compared notes and found that the Up-to-Date Company had received a total of 50 points out of a possible 100 and to the Up-to-Date Company the cup will be given. The winning window was very attractive in its simplicity and appeal. A few handsome coats, suits and dresses arranged in very artistic manner, well lighted, attracted the attention of all who passed and not only the public but the judges evidently were attracted by the display.

The Awards.

Awards were made in the following order:
Up-to-Date Company, 50 points, first; S. Cohen's Sons, 40 points, second; Safford & Scudder, third, 30 points; Gold's Reliable Shop, and Rose & Gorman were tied for fourth place, each having 25 points; Wondrous Company, fifth, 25 points; Leventhal and M. H. Herzog were tied for sixth place, each having 20 points.

Many of the other stores which were entered into the competition had very attractive windows and in some cases it was but the lack of some small detail to bring them into the running column. This fact made the judging of the windows a difficult task. The judges were J. R. Sullivan, A. W. Malet, P. M. Barr and Edward Schneyer, all of Poughkeepsie.

Before 5 o'clock, the time set for the dropping of the curtains which veiled the windows, the streets were crowded with interested spectators who passed from shop to shop when the displays were unveiled and expressed their personal opinions in regard to the displays.

On the streets were a number of automobiles on display by the automotive dealers of the city and these cars were inspected by people in a leisurely manner as they passed from store to store to view the windows.

Chief Wood had an extra force of officers on duty to regulate traffic and keep street intersections clear and traffic moving.

S. Cohen's Sons window was very attractive with a display of men's scarfs, hats, ties and shirts in one window while the other window was devoted to men's attire very cleverly arranged and displayed. Safford & Scudder showed a very simple but brilliant display. Under a large spotlight was a single large diamond mounted on a background of black velvet. A card indicated that the diamond was valued at $55,000.

The Rose & Gorman windows were attractive in an array of many articles such as might be expected in a department store. A feature which attracted the attention of many was young women models who displayed in the center window at the entrance the latest creations in suits, coats, hats and furs. Gold's window which tied with the Rose & Gorman window in number of earned points showed attractive women's apparel well displayed and lighted.

To mention the many attractive windows individually and attempt to describe them would be impossible but the merchants will continue their display today and Saturday. The public is invited to come out and view the windows and also inspect the fall list of merchandise which will be found on display inside the stores.

Judges Entertained at Dinner.

The judges who inspected the windows and selected the winners were met by a committee from the association and entertained at dinner at the Hotel Sherryway by Ben Fein, vice-president of the association, after which they inspected the windows and made their report. It was the unanimous opinion of the judges that Kingston merchants were progressive and they expressed their opinion that they had seen a town in which the spirit of cooperation was better expressed than in Kingston.

To Close Up Old Swimmin' Hole

(Special to the Kingston Daily Freeman)

(By F. G. Clough)

Woodstock, Oct. 11.—The battle at the Woodstock Art Colony between the artists and some of the natives parading under the anonymous name of "The Committee of Fifty" has taken a turn toward success for the moralists which is to say, for the committee which seeks to "clean-up" the village and scare away all those who go to the mountain rendezvous for freedoms that cannot be found in the cities.

The new development in the war which has attracted the attention of journalists and art editors about the country, is the quiet purpose, of those who have authority, to close up "The Little Deep," a swimming hole in the Sawkill where art dilettantes and bona fide artists have long been wont to disport themselves during the hot summer weather.

At present large signs are being made to post up along both banks of the Sawkill where "The Little Deep" has been enjoyed as the Woodstock swimmin' hole for so many years. The owner of the land on both sides of the swimming hole has decided that the past summer's actions were too much. There were nude bathing parties, it is averred. Picnic parties left their tin cans and paper boxes all along the virgin banks of the stream. Other charges have been made, and the decrees have gone forth that there will be no more "Little Deep."

The clean-up squad chose the month of October for their decision, although the weather is so cold that bathers are no longer to be seen. There will be no opposition, no indignation meetings by the artists, for fire-places are more attractive this month at the art colony than swimming holes. But when another spring rolls around, the colonists will be confronted with "No Trespassing" signs at their favorite swimming hole, and the battle will be on for another season. Thus is the strategic maneuver of the moralists seen as a continuation of the battle that waged all summer in various ways at Woodstock. Just how much pressure the Committee of Fifty brought to bear upon the owner of the land adjoining the Little Deep is not known. The story of the ban leaked out this week through Griffin Herriek, contractor, who is making the signs for the owner of the land to be barred to swimmers; he stated the signs were already made, and would be posted within a short time, so as to be ready for next summer.

Permanent residents at Woodstock have received the news with mingled emotions. Some are siding with the colonists who perceive that their studios, buy from the local stores; others declare that "it is time" the nude bathing parties were stopped, for decency's sake.

If the Committee of Fifty does nothing more, it has given a dubious reputation to its sponsors. The Art Digest, a monthly art magazine published at Hopewell, N. J., ran a feature story in their October issue entitled "A Teapot Tempest," in which they said the artists at Woodstock were between "the devil and the deep sea." It could have said between the Parsons and the Sawkill Creek. This art magazine continued:

"The proclamation of the 'Committee of Fifty' was unsigned, and the 'Hue and Cry' dealt with it viciously under the title of 'Snootism,' while the Woodstock Bulletin asserted that, so far as anybody could find out, the only persons connected with the 'Committee of Fifty' were the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, the Rev. William Peckham, Clorrey Chapman and William S. Elwyn—just four."

The recent Woodstock Bulletin speaks shyly of its own issues "through its ministrations two divines got their names in the October issue of The Art Digest" and asks if "this isn't going some."

At the height of the recent fight the Rev. Mr. Todd intimated that the Committee of Fifty would wait until things quieted down before proceeding with their "clean-up" program, and the closing down of the popular art colony institution. The Little Deep, is seen as a blow dealt in the dark at the enemy camp.

Persons who hold the interests of the summer colony foremost declare that a public swimming hole is one of the necessities at Woodstock, and that defeat in this direction will not be accepted without a valiant struggle.

Don't Pay
"More than it's Worth"
for ANY radio ~ ~

"The best in radio" is worth almost any price you have to pay for it—and not one cent more! To save a few dollars (or many dollars) and rob yourself of the supreme enjoyment a really high-class radio can give you—is poor economy.

But, before you buy—make sure you are getting the best that the radio field has to offer. And then be sure that you are not paying more than the lowest market price for that "best."

C. A. Earl Radio offers you a triumph of reason in tone and volume. Voice or instrument heard on the C. A. Earl is that voice or instrument exactly as it is heard in the broadcasting station. C. A. Earl Radio-Super-Selectivity brings in the station you want perfectly—when the traffic on the air is at its thickest. C. A. Earl Distance and Silent Operation will prove revolution to you.

Compare C. A. Earl Performance with that of any radio you please. We are confident you will agree that there is nothing finer in radio than the C. A. Earl model.

Then compare their prices. You will understand why the C. A. Earl, unknown six months ago, is now one of America's most popular radios. Come in for a demonstration today.

CONFLICTING AUTHORITY.

General Smedley D. Butler seems to have modified his views since the days when he was characterized as the Bombastes Furioso of Philadelphia enforcement. He is reported to have told President Hoover's Enforcement Commission that the present methods employed are "like heavy artillery to kill sparrows," that the prohibition law as enforced is "the grossest piece of class legislation in the country's history" (a multitude of small offenders being caught while all the big ones are allowed to use influence to secure their escape), and that there can be no real and fair enforcement while Federal officers "snoop around after half-pints on the hip and let the racketeer and king bootleggers go unhindered." What this positively assertive General of the Marines thinks of a recent court decision is not stated, but it is highly interesting and ought to help to clear up existing confusion.

The United States Court of Appeals in Philadelphia holds that the buyer of liquor can not be punished under the prohibition law. In the District Court a bootlegger was convicted and sent to Atlanta. A client of his, charged with conspiracy in aiding and abetting the crime, admitted all the facts in the case and was fined $200. The conviction of the latter is now set aside. The majority opinion of the Court of Appeals interprets the language of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act to mean that the purchase of liquor is not an offense within the terms or in the contemplation of either the amendment or the law. The position of the enforcement powers, however, has usually been that the buyer also is guilty "by indirection." The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury still asserts that view and declared that the Philadelphia case will have to be carried to the Supreme Court. Obviously that is desirable, so that the final authority can speak in this matter and put an end to conflicting opinion and practice.

CLUB PURPOSES.

A courageous Boston preacher, stirred no doubt by Lobbyist Shearer's attack on the Federation of Churches in America, suggests that there are other organizations more in need of investigation and watching. He boldly names the Daughters of the American Revolution as one such group that has allowed its organization to be made a tool and accessory for big armament movements.

Whatever William B. Shearer's actual importance or unimportance, his activities and their recent revelation have had—or may have—some good results in straightening out the public's estimate of the usefulness of various organizations. At present there is much confusion as to who are and who are not true patriots, what groups are engaged in dangerous and what in beneficial propaganda.

This is a period of great club activity. Organizations are formed for the promotion and advancement of almost every imaginable cause and idea. Other organizations are formed to combat these. It is a wise club member who knows precisely what his or her group stands for, or what its purpose is.

In all this confusion a good many false bogeys have been raised to terrify unthinking individuals. A house cleaning of its own intellectual and patriotic ideas and aims might very well be given first place in the fall program of many a self-respecting and well-meaning organization. The main trouble is that too often clubs and other organizations are misrepresented and exploited by a few of their officials and more zealous than scrupulous members.

A curious contradiction is brought into the light by the decision of the United States Court of Appeals in a recent bootlegging case. A lower court had imposed a heavy fine and imprisonment on a bootlegger for selling liquor, and a light fine on a customer for buying it from him. The higher court reversed the ver-diction in the case of the buyer, declaring that it was to offend under the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead act to buy contraband liquor. This will reassure a great many patrons of bootleggers. Evidently it is sound law. The court is merely interpreting the law and the Constitution. The evident intent of the dry amendment and the enforcement act was to stop traffic in alcoholic beverages. The distributor is regarded as the trafficker and the consumer is not. Which as a legal proposition sounds logical.

Asserting the needlessness of the extra session of Congress, which after six months has been unfruitful in results, and which was called by Mr. Hoover only because of a campaign promise (later shown to have been equally needless), the New York Times goes on to say: "One of the ironic features of the whole affair is the fact that the putative father of the extra session is the one who has been most bent on strangling it." The reference is to the contrary-minded Senator Borah who throughout the past few weeks "has been the leader or inspirer of the Republican defection in the Senate which has sought to ruin the President's program."

The Treasury Department has decided to permit Congressmen to enter the United States without having their baggage examined. Doubtless this is regarded as good policy, for, though it may cause envious criticism among ordinary tourists, at any rate it will prevent more of the embarrassing scandals that followed the examination of the baggage of several dry-rotting, wet-drinking Congressmen in the past.

LATEST ABOUT CANCER.

When you read that research men from all over the world met in London last year to bring together all that they had learned to date about the cause of cancer, you are naturally alert to find out what their years of work had discovered.

Not one of these brilliant patient men had got any nearer the solution as to the cause of cancer. They discussed the value of surgery, radium and X-ray treatment of cancer, and treatment by chemical methods, cancer of certain organs—stomach, lung, intestine; cancer caused by the patient's special kind of employment.

But when it came to what was causing the cancer they were, and still are, up against a stone wall. Some think it is due to infection, some to some change in the normal tissues before birth, some that it is a combination of these two.

Then as to the best form of treatment there were differences of opinion. Some were for surgery alone, some for X-rays, some for colloidal lead, some for radium, whilst some were in favor of a combination of any of the above.

Now this looks like a discouraging condition of affairs, when we remember that these men are giving practically all of their time to the problem of cancer, and supporting them are millions of dollars which far-sighted generous people are subscribing annually.

But when you and I remember the problems that have been solved in the last fifty to seventy-five years there should be no feeling of discouragement.

You and your loved ones enter the hospital with no misgivings as to hospital gangrene or infection; that terrible thing, the bite of a mad dog, that equally terrible thing, lockjaw or tetanus, small-pox, malaria, the plague, yellow fever, diphtheria, diabetes, typhoid and many other formerly fatal conditions are now under control.

The cause of cancer will likely be discovered some day, any day in fact. In the meantime it is known that irritation of a certain kind of tissue causes cancer in certain individuals. The day will come when the type of individual in which cancer occurs will be known. The method of preventing cancer in that type will also be known.

In the meantime any irritation, any sore on any part of the body that is slow in healing should be reported to your physician. This little precaution is saving thousands of lives annually, as cancer, discovered early, can be cured.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

"Never heard of it," said the major, looking at the list of names. "At this they slipped into silence while Major Perkins raked his brains, trying vainly to think of something that might interest the American. But he was finding it hard, especially as the fellow did not seem to understand the King's English, as he phrased it to himself."

He made another attempt at it later. "Professional man?" "No," said Ray. "Music?" "Ah! Music. Play the piano, I suppose?"

Chapter 11 THE HOUSE PARTY

An English house party is invariably composed of types, though each host or hostess wished to impress upon their friends how cosmopolitan their acquaintances are: an army officer on leave from India, a naval man, a retired business man, a more or less well known author, an heir apparent to some title. As for the women, be sure there will be Lady So and So, the widow of the Bishop, Miss Clark, stone Maddock of the flat-headed, sporting variety, the poorer relative who is being given a chance to marry money, the wife of the business man, the fiancée of the author who is in musical comedy and motors down from London on Sundays.

The crowd of guests Ralph Henderson had assembled was no exception to this rule and, when Barbara and Ray arrived and were ushered into the drawing-room, she felt, in her own words, weak at the knees.

She did not know what she had expected, unless she had thought that, as in America, a house party consisted of a number of people of similar ages and tastes who met to have a roaring good time.

It looked a depressing enough assembly and none realized it more keenly than the host, but he had arranged the party more with the idea of impressing Barbara as to the importance of the friends than with giving her what is familiarly known as a good time.

Henderson seated her beside the largest and most important of the dowagers.

"Lady Fielding, may I present Mrs. Lowther?"

Lady Fielding surveyed Barbara through her lorgnette while to herself she said, "This must be the millionairess."

Then aloud, remembering that several of her pet charities were sadly in need of funds, "This is indeed a pleasure. Come and sit beside me, dear Mrs. Lowther, and tell me all about America."

Barbara gasped and, as she seated herself, murmured, "What do you want to hear about, Lady Fielding?"

Lady Fielding smiled a wintry smile. "About your dear strange people. Tell me, do you find it hard to understand us over here?"

Barbara smiled wickedly. "Not at all. I bought one of those phrase books, 'English in Three Days,' and with its help I seem to be able to make myself understood."

"No-o-o!" ejaculated Lady Fielding. "She was trying to decide whether or not Barbara was making fun of her, but in view of the girl's money, she decided to give her the benefit of the doubt."

Meanwhile, Ray was faring no better than Barbara. His host had put him beside Major Perkins whose interest was confined exclusively to sport and chorus girls. Henderson had done it purposely, hoping to make the American uncomfortable.

"What's your sport?" demanded the major.

"I used to row when I was in college."

"College?" The major blinked. Ray saw that there was something wrong.

"Not since I was at Yale University," he told him.

"Ah! not since you were at theVarsity," the major corrected him. "What did you say the name of it was?"

Ray Lowther finds that being a "luxury husband" is worse than he expected—in tomorrow's installment.

that could be sold and moved intact, thus saving expense for the taxpayers.

Miss E. Mekeel of Cold Spring, N. Y., has been engaged to teach the pupils for the kindergarten. Mrs. May Rodney is the principal of the Woodstock public school, and Mrs. Toms of Kingston, the assistant. The present school has an increased number of pupils; under the trusteeship of George A. Neher every effort has been made for supplying adequate facilities for handling the enrollment. The new building was completed in three weeks' time and will open next Monday for regular classes.

LYONSVILLE.
 Lyonsville, Oct. 10.—At the regular service in the Reformed Church next Sunday afternoon at 2:15, the subject of the sermon by Mr. Braithwaite will be "The Story of a Hymn." This hymn will be sung by the choir and congregation. All welcome.

Sherman Barley was received into the church on confession of faith at the communion service last Sunday. Despite the bad weather on the night of the recent supper upwards of $90 was cleared for the church.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING OPENS AT WOODSTOCK.
 Under the trusteeship of George A. Neher, the Woodstock public school is opening next week a new kindergarten room. The new room is in a new building built in the rear of the main school building, an addition to the school room space of 22 by 35 feet, including additional toilet and cloak rooms.

This improvement is the result of a petition made by the taxpayers of the Woodstock village school district some time ago, asking for additional facilities to care for kindergarten pupils. When the matter was taken up with the building department of the state department of education, permission to add a room to the present Woodstock public school was denied, unless the entire structure was made fireproof; a third room also necessitated an assembly and gymnasium rooms; in the interests of economy it was decided to make the third kindergarten room in a separate building that could be sold or moved when the time comes to build a new school building for Woodstock.

Plans are under way for a consolidated school to take in the separate schools in the township; for this reason the recent addition was made in the form of a separate building.

OLD WOODSTOCK INN

WILL BE IMPROVED

Announcement has been made that The Old Woodstock Inn has been leased by W. Ronald Locke and Mabel F. Locke for a period of one year, beginning with October, 1932. Mr. and Mrs. Locke have leased the inn from the new owner, Mr. Malcolm B. Ayres, of Elizabeth, N. J., who will make additional alterations and improvements in the plan to provide for Woodstock an adequately equipped modern hotel.

The Old Woodstock Inn was formerly The Twaddell House, one of the landmarks of the early Woodstock village. It was purchased several years ago by the late Stephen B. Ayres, who renovated the house, making it into a colonial inn, with large pillars fronting the village green in Woodstock Village. Before his death, Mr. Stephen B. Ayres had commenced a large annex building, which will now be completed by the new owner, thus offering future guests rooms and suites with modern facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke, who will manage the new inn, came to Woodstock two years ago from Florida; they have been managing the Old Woodstock Inn the past summer season and have built up a following and made a host of friends among the Woodstockers. With the new equipment and facilities, it is expected that they will make the hotel one of the most popular in the art colony town. Their recent announcement that they will remain open all winter will be received with pleasure by many residents and week-end guests at Woodstock.

NOT A DOLLAR FOR REPAIRS NOT A DOLLAR FOR SERVICE that is the
AMAZING EXPERIENCE
 of the owners of this refrigerator

NO wonder the owner of a General Electric feels a glow of pride when he says, quietly, "Yes, we have a General Electric." For, which electric refrigerator can match his in efficiency, in quietness, in stamina, in trouble-free service?

The record of more than 350,000 in use with no owner having spent a dollar for repairs or service is one which truly challenges comparison.

The mechanism of the General Electric is so simple... it never needs oiling... it is hermetically sealed in a steel casing which keeps it forever dust-proof. It creates no radio interference. It has an accessible freezing regulator. It makes plenty of ice.

The cabinets are all-steel. They cannot warp. They are particularly easy to clean. Sturdiest hardware is bolted right into the steel frame. Self-closing door latch, gliders to protect your linoleum... And, of course, it automatically maintains a temperature several degrees below 50—the figure which medical authorities agree is the danger point in food preservation. MORAN SCHOOL STUDENTS HEAR ABOUT IMMIGRATION.

At a special assembly in the Moran Business School, corner of Fair and Main streets, Thursday morning, Michael Kley, manager of the Immigrant Service and Citizenship Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, spoke on "Immigration and the Community". Mr. Kley traced the history of immigration from the landing of the Pilgrims in 1620 to the present, recounting the various changes in the immigration laws since restrictions have been put on the numbers entering this country from foreign lands. The story of how strict European nations are with immigration laws was told by the speaker, who explained the care taken by American enterprises to make immigrants responsible members of the United States.

Convalence: Wife—"Well, mon, what of it?"

McAndrews—"Ye ken the doctor said you needed a change of air."

The dealer surprised the new salesman kissing his pretty daughter. "What's this, Thompson? Is this what I pay you for?"

"No, sir; I do this free of charge."

It's a man's cheque book that makes him appreciate the drawing power of his wife.

Modern Methods.

Tourist—"Why do you go over your potato field with that heavy roller?"

Farmer—"Because I want to raise mashed potatoes this year."

A man's weakest moment is when he tries to exert the most physical force in a fit of anger.

She—"When we are married I'll share all your troubles and sorrows."

He—"But I have none."

She—"I said when we were married."

SONG OF A MARRIED MAN

Before I married Magpie dear
I was her pumpkin pie,
Her precious peach, her honey lamb,
The apple of her eye.
But after years of wedded life
This thought I pause to utter,
Those fancy names are gone, and now
I'm just her bread and butter.

And then there is the local girl, who recently had a birthday cake with so many candles on it, that when they were lit, the neighbors turned in the fire alarm, thinking the house was on fire.

"I can't stand that actor; he's such a conceited fellow."

"Conceited! I should think he is. Why, every time he hears a thunder-clap at home he runs to the window and bows."

A fashion note says that the knees should "just peep from the bottom of the skirt." Which seems to be reasonably conservative; but the trouble is that most of them stare.

Something to Think About.
I consider my job an opportunity—not a condition.

I know that my boss and I both have to depend upon the earnings of the business for our remuneration—therefore it is up to both of us to increase the earnings.

I know that if I waste time, I am taking money out of the cash drawer. I consider allegiance and loyalty to my employer not merely a duty, but the best possible way in which I can serve my own best interest.

DAINTINESS

THERE is a subtle element in personal charm which may be described by the term daintiness. Actually it is often only a matter of cleanliness, carefully maintained. A generous supply of hot water in the home makes it simpler of attainment.

The REX PATROL Automatic Storage Water Heater keeps hot water ready for you at any hour. With the new water-heating rates, it costs surprisingly little to operate.

Fuller Spoke to Y's Men's Club

The Kingston Y's Men's Club enjoyed a very interesting and enthusiastic meeting Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The attendance was five, even larger than last week and singing with Tom Rowland leading and Dan Bittner at the piano was to the usual volume.

It was with a great burst of enthusiasm that the Y's Men welcomed into their membership Neiland H. Fuller, the new boys' work secretary.

Mrs. Stanley Wane and Mrs. Earl Wane served the fine dinner prepared by the Misses Davenport. The prices of these ladies are certainly appreciated by the Y's Men.

Bert Haver introduced as his guest Robert D. Wilson who was given a hearty Y's Men's welcome.

This coming Tuesday evening directly after the meeting the Y's Men will adjourn to their Charles Ramon lodge at Lake Katrine where they will enjoy a surprise dance and social.

Earl Leemon, Stanley Wane, Ernest LeFevre are working hard to make it an outstanding occasion.

When President Morton McLoughlin called upon Clarence Duman to take charge of the entertainment program all knew that they could expect a fine program as Clarence never disappoints.

In a very clever manner Clarence introduced as speaker of the evening Neiland H. Fuller, the new boys' work secretary.

It didn't take Fuller long to win the hearts of the Y's Men as he has an extremely pleasing personality. He said he was sorry he could not be present last week when General Secretary Clarence Schoonmaker and Physical Director Guy Allen were introduced to the members as his plans would not permit and the consequence was that he was now chief speaker of the evening, which he claimed was rather out of his line.

However, from the highly pleasing manner in which he spoke it was soon evident that no mistake had been made in asking him to address the club. After outlining briefly as a matter of introduction his work up to coming to Kingston and what he would like to see accomplished here it was the opinion of the fellows that he was the right man in the right place. He praised very highly the work already accomplished by Chester R. Hall, his predecessor, and said that he hoped the Y's Men would cooperate heartily with him and he would do his best to deserve their support.

He was given a rising vote of thanks with the assurance that the Y's Men were with him.

The entertainment committee for next week will be Myron Oppenheimer, Robert Severy and Earl McLane. They promised an exceptionally good program.

I Will Cheerfully Recommend Nu-Erb To Anyone In Doubt

Kingston Man Glad To Endorse Powers of The Famous Herbal Medicine.

"For more than eleven years, I have been in poor health and because Nu-Erb has given me relief after everything else had failed, I will cheerfully recommend this medicine to anyone who doubts the claims made for it," said Mr. Frederick Young, 282 Elmendorf St., Kingston, N. Y., in a recent interview with the Nu-Erb specialist at McBride Drug Store.

"My kidneys were in a very weakened condition and this seemed to be the cause of my trouble. There was seldom a night passed without I would be disturbed five or six times. Poisons finally accumulated through my system and I suffered from severe rheumatism through my joints and muscles. I'd get staggering dizzy spells, sick headaches and my nerves were also in a very weakened condition."

"After reading so much about what Nu-Erb was doing for others, I decided to give it a trial and in just a few weeks, this medicine has done wonders for me. My distressing health troubles have all been relieved for the first time. My kidneys are stronger than they have been for years and the rheumatic aches and pains, dizzy spells and headaches have all been relieved. I'm glad to endorse Nu-Erb because it is the only medicine that I have found that will do what is claimed for it."

Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the great herbal medicine that did so much for this party is made from the purest liquid extracts of twelve medicinal herbs, roots, barks and leaves which act on the stomach to assist it in digesting the food, strengthen weak kidneys, rouse a lazy liver to full action, relieve constipation, quiet the nerves, purify the blood and drive poisonous waste matter from the system. Nu-Erb is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

McBride Drug Store, 212 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Sidelights Of Commerce

Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, says the chairmen of the American Chamber of Commerce is 70 years old. The reason for its present prominence, he believes, is merely that it has "kept the universal quickening of the tempo of our national life."

Production of the "raw material" of music is a leading industry in America. Stringed instruments, accordions, mouth organs and every known device for producing music in wood, brass or steel are manufactured there. The United States department of commerce says 23,450 factory workers make musical instruments.

This is picture taking time in Wall Street. Recent bold robberies have spurred brokerage houses to complete the task begun some time ago of taking photographs of all employees. Camera men working under pressure and long queues of messengers, clerks and stenographers are a daily scene in the larger houses.

Every morning before noon a long, open, well-polished motor car approaches the front entrance of the old, red brick First National bank in New York.

In the front seat is a chauffeur and an attendant. In the rear seat, usually alone, is an elderly man with a famous set of side whiskers. If any vehicle happens to occupy the space in front of the bank it is asked to move temporarily out of the way.

This procedure often requires several minutes, which is long enough to jam lower Broadway's dense morning traffic almost as far as the Battery. The elderly passenger finally reaches the exact spot at the curb where he is accustomed to alight.

George F. Baker, chairman of the First National bank of New York and dean of Wall Street's gallery of famous characters, moves slowly from his car to the bank entrance. He greets several friends but pays little attention to the staring crowd.

The sun-baked natives of equatorial Africa have developed a taste for American ice cream sodas and banana splits. The department of commerce, which sees a possible new market for soda fountains, reports that the citizens of Accra, capital of the African Gold Coast, like vanilla, chocolate and strawberry.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 11.—The Port Ewen Fire Department is invited to participate in the parade in Kingston Sunday afternoon, October 13. All firemen who intend to go are asked to report to Chief Adolph Hanson or Assistant Chief Nicholas Zimmerman not later than 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Edward Bishop on Broadway, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Bishop was the hostess for the afternoon.

Miss Julia Van Aken and her sister, Mrs. Mary Van Aken of Railroad avenue were guests of Mrs. Edwin Hutchings on Broadway, Thursday afternoon.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Baker of the Methodist Church attended the District Conference at Stamford, N. Y., Thursday.

The clam chowder sale held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church, Thursday, was a grand success. The chowder was delicious.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Herlihy have returned home from their honeymoon trip spent in the eastern States.

Esopus Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty will meet Wednesday evening, October 16, at 7:30 o'clock in their council room on Broadway.

Roller skating at the rink in Pythian Hall this evening from 8 to 11 o'clock. Everybody invited.

The following are the chairmen of the committees for the coming year of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church, October 29, 30: Kitchen, Miss Loretta Van Aken; dining room, Mrs. Elsie Secor and Mrs. Bertha Ellsworth; fancy articles and home-made candy, the Dorcas Society; mystery booth, Miss Louise Hutchings and her Sunday school class.

Prize and Ingratitude
Prize is of such intimate connection with ingratitude that the actions of ingratitude seem directly resolvable into prize as the principal reason of the South.

WOODSTOCK LIBRARY HAS EXHIBIT SERIES:
The Woodstock Public Library has just hung an exhibition of original drawings by C. J. McCarthy, illustrator, who lives at Woodstock.
This is the third of a series of exhibitions of illustrations shown by the library in the effort to show their patrons, especially the young folks, how their books are made, and what care and talent goes into the book illustrations. It happens that many illustrators live at Woodstock, and some of these have consented to loan their work for the series of exhibits.
Paul Dane, artist, consented to manage these exhibits for the library. The first two artists showing work were Ruskin Williams and Hanson Booth. Both exhibits were much admired. The work of C. J.
McCarthy is equally excellent and is certain to attract much attention at the library rooms.
The library committee also wishes to make public thanks for recent contributions to their shelves, which include gifts by Mrs. F. J. Higgins, Kingston, (a complete set of magazines, Old Uster); Gerald Thayer for his own book, "Concealing Coloration in the Animal Kingdom" (from this work the World War camouflage was started); Alfred Hutt, for his recent book on "American Eiders"; Anne Moore, for her own book, "Children of God and Winged Things"; to Paul Dane for a practical book on flying, and to S. Chaplin for a number of novels and detective stories.

The library has recently gone on its winter schedule, to be open each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

Unexplored Africa
One section of Africa that has recently been discovered, but still requires more exploration, is the mountain region lying between the Lakes
Albert Edward and Albert Nyanza.
This is said to be the least known mountain region in Africa. It was popularly called "Mountains of the Moon" and is now known by the name
"Ruvenzori."

WHY WE DO IT
Why We Think With Our Body
By MEHRAN K. THOMSON, Ph. D.
Author of "The Springs of Human Action"

WHEN psychology was born it was called the science of the soul. That is what the word psychology means in Greek. It was supposed to describe the activities of the inner self or soul. But nobody could discover such a separate inner self apart from the rest of the total personality. So that notion was dropped.
Next the psychologist looked to the nervous system and more especially to the large brain in the head as the seat of intelligence.
But the behaviorists and other investigators came along and knocked this theory into a cocked hat.
They proved that the brain is merely a connecting center that is actively and never initiated as an act.
The most up-to-date theory is that we think with our whole body. Thinking is a physical as well as mental process. It takes in the whole man. The healthier we are, the more acute our senses, the more closely co-ordinated our nervous system, the more easily balanced our glands and the test of the internal apparatus, the better we are able to think.
The notion that we think only with our minds is a useless conceit because no one knows what the mind is. You can't tell where it is located nor anything intelligible about it. The term is retained in the vocabulary to designate the total process of personality. We know that mind has to have the aid of the large brain, the spinal cord, the whole nervous system.

DANCE, BUT GIPS CROWN

Girl Lanes Her Royal Main and King is Out for $1,500
Manager.

New York.—A gypsy king, leader of 10,000 Romany gypsies in America, visited police headquarters with a tale of the astonishing disappearance of his $1,500 crown and crown jewels. His loss he attributed to a swindler, but it was a swindler, he explained, that was Ellich under the stringent trial laws.

It is hard, he told the police, to hold the young people to the ancient laws, and he had been fearful of trouble ever since after long negotiations and the promise of $4,000 payment, he had arranged for the marriage of his son, Harry Kessler, nineteen years old, to Mary Stevenson, eighteen years old, daughter of one of the tribe's subleaders.

The boy, he admitted, had shown for some time that he was more drawn to Mary Stevenson, also eighteen, temporarily a resident of Pittsburgh. But a ruler, he explained, must himself be ruled by policy.

Yet, for a few weeks, he said, the boy had shown no sign of an intended rebellion. He had worked about the tents in Stratford park as regularly as there was work to do and had spoken without apparent rancor of his coming marriage, which was planned for celebration in Atlantic City.

Then he left his father's house on Boston road and failed to keep an appointment with his father. The suspicion that he had run away was quickly verified when the gold double ring of crown that made up his father's crown was found to be missing also.

This crown, the gypsy king explained, is one that is easily negotiable into cash. It is made up of coins, some of which are 300 years old and were cast in Turkey, Serbia and Austria. The two end pieces are American double eagles, there being $450 worth of United States gold coins in the crown.

When last seen the prince wore blue trousers, a chocolate colored shirt and a purple tie. His father offered a $50 reward for information of his whereabouts, but as he would enter no complaint on the alleged theft of the crown, and the boy left home of his free will, the police refused to take up the case.

"It's like asking us to play cupid," Detective William King of the missing persons bureau explained. "How do we know which one he should marry, or why?"

Put a Sneeze in Gas
to Ban Self-Killing

Brussels.—"Sneeze yourself back to life," is the remedy Miss Mary L. Sherrill of Mount Holyoke College, Mass., would apply to gas suicides.

Miss Sherrill, who is a Ph. D. of Chicago university, is working on poison gases at a Brussels laboratory. But her pet gas is the one she means to bestow on would-be suicides.

"Just pour a tiny dose of my sneeze gas into all gas mains of the United States and you'll see there wouldn't be any more gas suicides," Miss Sherrill explains. "This newly patented tear gas would make the premeditated or unconscious taking of one's life by gas impossible. Persons inhaling the ordinary heating or lighting gas into which a slight quantity of the tear gas is infused, would start to cry, sneeze and cough so atrociously that they would not only get back to a saner view of life and death, but would awaken all their neighbors."

The sneeze gas is absolutely harmless and simply incapacitates persons momentarily for any other business than trying to rush out of the gas filled room into fresher, less irritating air. Back in 1900 Miss Sherrill tried to find a harmless war gas for surprise attacks.

Sports Prints Craze
Creates Bull Market

London, England.—New York and London's mad clamor for old sporting prints and sporting relics of all descriptions has created a bull market here for pictures that a few years ago would sell for a couple of dollars.

It is estimated that more than $300,000 worth of sporting prints were sold in London auction rooms alone during the last few months. This figure does not include a large number of private sales.

The record price for the season is said to be $75,000, paid by an American for George Stubbs' "Eclipse," which was in the private collection of the late Sir Walter Gifford. Some years ago this famous race-horse picture sold for $3,675.

The origin of the craze for sporting pictures is traced to Lord Wooler's collection.

Grandpa of Lobsters
Caught in New England

Lynn, Mass.—Walker Hathaway, a fisherman at Ipswich, recently captured with a boat on what is believed to be the largest lobster ever taken in New England waters. The lobster was pulled into Hathaway's boat from the bottom of the Ipswich river.

Its measurements were, from tip of claw to tail, 34 inches; from tip of nose to tail, 20 1/2 inches; tail circumference, 10 inches; length of feet, 20 inches; width of claws, 7 inches; and circumference of body, 18 inches.

50 Attend Hi-Y
Club Meeting

Wednesday evening the Kingston Hi-Y Club held a fine, pretty meeting at the Educational Rooms of the "Y" with 50 present. Miss Mildred Haas and Howard Thomas furnished music for the singing of several popular pieces which were very ably led by Stuart Parks. Chester A. Smith, Jr., led devotions after which President Watts told the members that Kingston had put in a bid for the annual Hi-Y DU'SO League football banquet, which for the past two years has been put on at Newburgh. Each year the Hi-Y Clubs of the Kingston, Port Jervis and Middletown schools get together in order to get better acquainted and also to get a better sportsmanship feeling among the schools.

The members were again reminded of the Older Boys' Conference at Rochester. This will be a state-wide conference and similar to the one held at Buffalo there years ago. About 1,500 boys are expected to register for the three days following Thanksgiving. The Kingston delegation together with the other Hi-Y clubs of Ulster county will travel by auto buses. Registrations are now being received at the "Y" offices. It is not a Hi-Y Conference but a Conference of Older Boys and all members 16-24 are eligible to attend.

Mr. Watts then introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Mr. Davis of Forest Hills, Long Island. Mr. Davis returned only a week ago from his twelfth voyage across the Atlantic.

Mr. Davis's speech was very interesting, he dwelling upon World Brotherhood. He gave several most unusual incidents which brought out the similarity of people in various countries. His illustrations were well given and made his auditors almost think that they had gone through the same experience. He closed with a story of a painting for an altar background which was supported to represent God's great family. He had the picture almost finished when he received a vision of a man touching up his picture. He had painted all of the faces in the picture white while the man, who seemed to wear a halo, was painting some brown, some red and some black. When he awoke from this dream he immediately remodeled the picture he had made and the painting is one of the finest today. Mr. Davis had a charming personality which seemed to agree perfectly with the members and although his speech was much longer than usual the entire group sat in perfect attention.

The meeting closed with the singing of the school song.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Sunny skies who have come recently to associate double companions with us tops have a bunch that Leonard Zerkow will take Al Silver to a fight at Madison Square Garden. Jimmy Fox, you know.

Philadelphia—Most of the 231 usherettes hired for today's series game are married. The club thought married women were more entitled to the $5 per diem.

Long Beach, N. Y.—Sea gulls must have their fish fresh. Two hurt in a storm and treated at a fire station refused salmon and other varieties from cans and so the fire ladders spent their free time catching fresh ones.

Anchorage, Alaska—James A. Stillman, New York banker, is returning home from hunting with a moose head that has a horn spread of 71½ inches.

Princeton, N. J.—A college education is regarded as a handicap for young men entering business by Floyd L. Carlisle, New York banker and graduate of Cornell. In the Daily Princetonian he says a university cannot produce in men the drive that business gives them; life is easy and soft for collegians. Entering business they have to get rid of lazy habits of thinking.

Gulfport, Miss.—Lieutenant Governor Blawie Adams has survived a terrific battle with a monster devil fish. Grabbing a tarpon line, it drenched him and a guide in a skin eight miles into the Gulf of Mexico before a yacht rescued them. "It was as big as a house, 15 or 20 feet broad," said Mr. Adams.

Lincoln, Ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Watkins have had their first train ride. It was provided by Henry Ford. He bought an old court house where they had lived for years and moved it to Dearborn. In return he gave them a newer home in Dearborn.

Stamford, Conn.—Mrs. L. Oliver, 60, socially prominent, is adept with an axe. She swung one and stripped a telephone pole, thereby causing a power outage. It was the climax of a ceremony marking the installation of underground wires near Conde Nast's publishing plant where he has spent $500,000 in landscape beautification.

Washington—Secretary Lamont's guess is that the loss from traffic congestion in the United States is two billion dollars a year or the equivalent of the amount spent for highway construction and maintenance.

New York—Some folks who are irritated easily need calcium. Its deficiency in the blood was given as a cause of bad temper by Dr. Walter Timme before the New York Academy of Medicine.

Had Fine Summer At Camp Wendy

Those who have encouraged the Girl Scout movement in Ulster county can well be proud of the season of 1929 at Camp Wendy, the Ulster County Girl Scout camp.

Camp Wendy is situated on one of the small beautiful lakes on the Borden estate near Wallkill, N. Y. It accommodates 58 girls at one time. This year 289 girls enjoyed the privileges of the camp for at least one week; of this number 25 stayed the entire summer. The majority of the girls come to camp for two weeks.

Nearly all of the 199 children who came to camp unable to swim learned to do so while there. Many a girl came home with a pretty little leather purse, a good looking braided belt or perhaps a bit of bookbinding which she had learned to do. For nature study camp Wendy is ideally placed, with fields, woods, swamps, water and cultivated lands right at its door. Many of the campers who became interested in nature last year found themselves more enthusiastic than ever this summer. And new folks found their way into the nature trails.

A pioneer unit was added this year. In this independent camp across the lake, Marooner's Isle, by name, eight older girls and their leader cooked two meals a day out of doors, rain or shine, having the evening meal with the rest of the camp. Here was opportunity to learn to really live in the open.

The Dramatic Class and the Minstrel Class were kept busy entertaining the rest of the camp at evening camp fire. Every camper will agree that camp fire is the happiest time of the day.

The health of each girl is very carefully looked after by a registered nurse, who is always in camp. Also every member of the camp is examined by a doctor before entering. Camping serves a three-fold purpose—knowledge, health, and wholesome pleasure. With this in mind, team work, initiative, self-reliance and leadership were emphasized in the character building program which was carried on by the camp director and her 14 well trained counselors.

At the end of a summer spent in Camp Wendy a Girl Scout should feel herself more ready to live her promise—

"On my honor I will try—
To do my duty to God and my Country,
To help other people at all times,
To obey the Girl Scout Laws."
Congratulations to those who made possible this sixth splendid year of outdoor living for our Ulster County Girl Scouts. Is it not worth while to contribute our time and money toward the development of a program which is going to give our future women a better understanding of what is before them?

LARGE GROUP OUT FOR SECOND SENIOR GYM CLASS

The new "Y" gym director had his hands well filled with the excellent group which came out for the second senior gym class on Wednesday night. Mr. Allen, who came to Kingston from Olean where he won much favorable comment, has been very busy getting his fall schedule under way. Although the turnout Wednesday was good, there can still be many more fellows accommodated in the gym.

The noon men's class which meets at 12:15 Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, has also received much favorable comment and support. Any business man is welcome to join this class by merely taking a business men's membership out in the "Y".

Great Medical Discovery
The carbon-tetrachloride treatment for hookworm disease for human beings was introduced by Dr. Maurice C. Hall of the Department of Agriculture in 1921. Doctor Hall discovered its value as a drug for the removal of hookworms in dogs, and then found that it could be applied to human beings with satisfactory results. It is a great contribution to tropical medicine.

MOST PRISONS OVERCROWDED

Deplorable Conditions Are Found in State and Federal Institutions.

New York—Prison conditions in the United States, which fail to reflect credit upon our American system of justice, are reported upon at length in the Handbook of American Prisons, which will shortly be issued by the National Society of Penal Information, the general committee of which includes a number of notable citizens in the field of education, science, politics and civic administration.

Overcrowding and idleness are the twin evils of American prison administration, according to Paul W. Garrett, editor of the Handbook, and executive secretary of the national society.

"Overcrowding is not a new thing in American prisons," says Mr. Garrett, "but apparently at no time in the history of the country has it been so serious as at present. In a few states, it is true, the population has shown little or no increase since 1910, but in most of the states a marked increase in population is noted. Overcrowding in the federal prisons at Atlanta and Leavenworth is now over 100 per cent of the capacity of the institutions. Jefferson City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Jackson, Mich., and San Quentin, Calif., all are seriously overcrowded, and the same condition may be found to a greater or lesser degree in the institutions of a majority of the more populous states.

Doubling Men in Cells.

"This overpopulation is met in various ways: in many cases it means housing two men in cells too small and improperly ventilated for one; in a few institutions, in addition to double-deck bunks in cells originally intended for one man, a mattress is placed on the floor of the cell for a third inmate. In Walla Walla, Wash., in addition to doubling-up in the cells, many of the men are locked in for over twenty hours a day as there is no work for them to do. Such a state of affairs aggravates every problem of sanitation and puts an intolerable strain on the physical and mental health of every man so confined. In many of the states temporary dormitories have been developed, some of which are fairly satisfactory as temporary expedients. In Michigan, for instance, there are one or two of this type, but in the western report the attention of state officials is called to the need for permanent housing facilities.

"In connection with overcrowding two points should be emphasized. The federal government and many of the states have passed new laws which inevitably increased prison population, but no accompanying legislation was enacted to provide adequate housing facilities. With the increase of population in many states a corresponding increase in prison population might have been expected and provision made for it; failure to do this, as well as to provide for the increase in population due to new legislation, has created the unparalleled condition of overcrowding to be found in so many states.

"It is interesting to note that in many states the overcrowding has been aggravated by a very conservative parole policy. The last published report of Jefferson City, Mo., indicates that approximately 50 per cent of the men committed during the past year had never had previous sentences of any kind, and about 50 per cent were serving sentences of two years or less. This would suggest the possible use of parole power to reduce the grave overcrowding, but in place of a liberal use of parole power in Missouri, and in practically every other state where overcrowding has been so serious, the parole authorities have made the situation more serious by a conservative policy dictated apparently by timidity. In not a single state have the parole authorities had the courage to advise the people of the state that until proper housing facilities were provided for the inmates of penal institutions a careful but free use of their authority would be exercised in order to relieve conditions of overcrowding in part at least.

"The effects of overcrowding are noticeable in every department but probably in no other is the effect more serious than in industries. In many institutions the industries were entirely inadequate for even the proper capacity of the institution and the increase of recent years has meant a corresponding increase in idleness. Many institutions try to distribute the work as far as possible by assigning to every detail a large number of men in excess of the particular need. This of course does not increase the efficiency of work done, but does cut down the number of men who are completely idle."

Figures compiled by the National Society of Penal Information show the prison population of federal and state institutions, in most cases as of January, 1929, as 134,788.

Reporting on idleness, the Handbook of American Prisons continues: "In the prisons of many states, there is a considerable number of men to whom it is not possible to give any work. This number varies from a few hundred to a thousand or more, and in Columbus, Ohio, it is sometimes approximated at 2,000. The tendency in former years on the part of officials to cover their problem of idleness has largely disappeared and by every possible means they are now calling it to the attention of people in their state.

"Officials realize probably better than does anyone else the demoralizing effects of idleness on the inmates not only during their term of imprisonment, but after their release. There is certainly no more pressing a problem involved in the penal system of the various states than the development of a satisfactory system of industries.

"Prison labor was originally imposed as an aggravation of the punishment involved in imprisonment. But the economic motive of reducing or covering the cost of prison maintenance, and the social aim of industrial training, have been in the ascendant for many years, resulting in the general acceptance at present of both the economic and social purpose of prison labor. This general acceptance of the purposes has not carried with it any agreement as to the method by which these purposes are to be achieved."

Prison-Made Goods.

"The problem was serious enough even before the recent increase in prison population and federal legislation affecting the shipment of prison-made goods. The Hawes-Cooper bill, recently enacted, is designed to make it possible for each state to determine the conditions of the sale of prison-made goods shipped into the state, as they have previously determined the distribution of goods made in the institutions of the state. While this bill does not become operative until about 1933 it means that all of the states using the contract system in whole or in part, and those on the state account basis, must make a substantial readjustment in their industries. It will not affect the few states now exclusively on the state-use basis, but it is in some of these states that idleness is most prevalent.

"There are comparatively few states in the country in which the question of prison industries does not call for most careful consideration in the immediate future."

Orphan Pals Reunited After Half a Century

Conneaut, Ohio.—A half-century ago two orphan boys, one fifteen and the other sixteen, inmates of a Mercer (Pa.) orphanage and inseparable companions, put their few belongings on the end of sticks across their shoulders and parted company, seeking their fortunes along different paths. Forty years later fate brought the roads on which these boys, now men, were traveling, together at Conneaut, where they have lived ever since. For 13 years the two lived within a few miles of each other. For half that time they both worked at the Nickel Plate railroad shops. But their paths never crossed.

Recently, through a mutual friend in West Springfield, Pa., Willis Darrow, sixty-eight, and J. S. Northrop, sixty-nine, met for the first time in 33 years.

Northrop left Mercer in 1878. Darrow left in 1877. Thirteen years ago they both moved to Conneaut. For the next six years they worked at the Nickel Plate. But never during that time did they meet.

They are busy now recalling old times.

Six-Foot Ape Is Dead; Mystery to Scientists

Rochester, N. Y.—Azwas, giant six-foot ape, captured in the Dutch East Indies and the subject of much controversy among scientists, died here recently. Azwas was neither gorilla nor chimpanzee. It was said. He weighed 400 pounds and was the only specimen of his kind ever captured.

Meyer Aaron, the ape's owner, valued him at $20,000. He was being exhibited at a local park at the time of his death. His daily diet of 75 bananas had fallen to a point where he refused food, and it required ten men to give him medicine.

In Azwas' native jungles his kind were known as "maskuda" or "meo of the woods," and were very rare.

"Daddy" Endearing Term

Thirty-five or forty years ago the title "dad" or "daddy" was not in good form. Today, however, both are regarded as entirely proper and are preferred by many parents. To address one's father as "dad" or "daddy" implies no discourtesy indicates no lack of rearing, and is by no means vulgar.—Washington Star.

30 DAYS FREE TRIAL SAYS McBride's Drug Stores

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming through the nostrils—and it will come through no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucus.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

And remember this—the toughest old head colds are knocked out in a few hours with Opex—it's the magic treatment of science, for with this new discovery you can reach the entire respiratory tract—right down to the bottom of the lungs.

Bear this in mind also for it will be joyful news to millions. After you spray Opex for two or three weeks there won't be any lump of mucus in your throat to hawk up every morning—what a blessing.

Opex is sold in this city only by McBride's Drug Stores with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance. Inhale as you spray if you want to reach the bottom of the lungs—you can also spray that sore throat with purifying Opex.

High School Play November 22

The Athletic Association of Kingston High School will give its annual play, Friday night, November 22, in the school auditorium. Miss Ann Byrne, elocutionist at the high school, has chosen, "Tweedles" by Booth Tarkington, which is a three-act comedy. The play is being presented through special arrangements with Samuel French of New York City.

A large number of students have already signed up to try out for the play, in fact it is the greatest number that ever responded for trouts in any production at the school. Miss Byrne feels that she will have no trouble in securing the best talent for the various parts.

Those who attended the plays given at the high school will well remember the Athletic Association's productions of the past two years, "Strongheart" and "Clarence," which were under the direction of Miss Byrne. The Senior Class productions of 1928-29 are classed the best ever given on the high school stage. "Smilin' Through" was presented by the class of '28, and "The Romantic Age" by the class of '29. They were so well acted and the characters so well fitted their parts that a stranger on seeing the plays could hardly believe that the actors were amateurs.

Vandahs Raid Cliff Homes in Arizona

Phoenix, Ariz.—Excursion to provision was made for protection of the Tonto cliff dwellings when they were not made as a national monument by act of congress. Vandahs virtually are raising the prehistoric abode of a people of 500 to 5,000 years ago.

Among the 300 or more daily visitors there are so many souvenir hunters that a portion of one wall has been carried away and parts of the floor and ceiling have been torn out. The Tonto, tucked way high up on the side of a canyon wall, was found by a prospector 57 years ago. It was made of cypress poles, which the ancient builders had carried over the hills, probably from the vicinity of Miami or Globe.

105 POUND WOMAN BEATS AUTO THIEF

Moral: Don't Steal a Red Handed Lady's Car.

Cleveland, Ohio.—A red handed woman who weighs only 105 pounds recently whopped an automobile thief over the head with a club, and subsequently recovered her husband's automobile.

Eugene R. Chable left his car in front of his gasoline station. Ten minutes later it wasn't there. He called his home because he couldn't remember the license number, and he knew he'd have to give that to police.

In the midst of the conversation Mrs. Chable heard a familiar automobile horn on the street. She dashed out in time to see her husband's car speeding down the avenue.

She ran right after it and caught up when the car stopped several streets down for a red traffic light.

"What are you doing with my car?" she asked the driver.

"Aw, go on, this ain't your car," said the driver.

Providence had placed a club within easy reach. Mrs. Chable snatched it up, and the first blow landed on the auto thief's wrist. The second landed on his arm. And the third—as powerful blow as 105 pounds and red hair could develop—landed nicely on the head of the tough young man.

He jumped out of the car and fled, but not before some one who had been attracted by the commotion had recognized him. This witness gave his name to Mrs. Chable, who relayed it to police, who visited the man's home and brought him in.

Baby Born at Roadside During Motor Car Tour

Spanish Fork, Utah.—Pioneers of Utah who were born while the prairie schooners of their parents were en route to the golden west have accepted into their ranks a youngster born under similar conditions, but at the side of an automobile instead of in an old schooner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Olsen of Ruth, Nev., were traveling across the desert from Delta to Eureka when the stork overtook them. A husky son was born by the side of the road without medical attention of any kind.

Brought to Spanish Fork as soon as they could be moved, the mother and baby were given medical care and both are "doing nicely."

Find Flaws in Metal With Use of X-Ray

Cleveland.—How to peek through two inches of metal to determine if it has any flaws will be explained to delegates to the first national metal congress, to be held here September 9 to 13.

This explanation will be offered by R. S. Archer, metallurgist here for the Aluminum Company of America in charge of the X-ray department, who is to present a paper to the congress on radiography.

The congress, with its national metal exposition, is being sponsored by America's five leading metal technical societies, headed by the American Society for Steel Treating.

Old Castle With Ghost Tradition Is for Sale

London.—Hurstmonceux castle, famous as one of the most beautiful buildings in the south of England, has been offered for sale here. It is a mellow red brick stronghold, built by Sir Roger Pennington in 1440.

The castle is part of the estate of Col. Claude Louth, who spent $1,000,000 on its restoration. The majestic entrance, with towers 81 feet high on either side, has been much admired.

Tradition tells of a ghost who haunts the castle in the guise of a drummer.

Wire-Haired Terrier Still Londoners' Favorite Dog

London.—The fed for small and frisky dogs is not cutting into the popularity of the wire-haired terrier, which is still the most popular canine in England. Registration figures of the Kennel club show that in April the wire-haired terrier led his nearest competitor, the Cocker spaniel, by nearly 300. Americans rank third in number of registrations.

Qualities That Win

The qualities that recommend young men are a willingness to work, courage in the face of disappointment, the ability of thrift and a sense of fair-play.—William Fetter.

Dutch Woman's Costume

"Colorful and Ample"

The costumes of Dutch Holland are indeed unique. Women wear six or more skirts, but the form is modestly displayed, and a bright colored waist with elaborate sleeves, for strong red arms are admired by men. The climate is a free cap, the shape of which distinguishes the province in which the wearer lives.

Wives of rich farmers wear gold casques, like helmets with ornamental gold curls. An ancient dame told us that her cost a hundred guilders (about $40).

Workmen wear exceedingly broad trousers, oftentimes colored vests and short coats. Children and the poor wear klompes—wooden shoes. If you hear what sounds like a troop of cavalry passing down the street, it will more than likely turn out to be a group of school children returning home. Concealed weapons are not needed in Holland. In case of a row a lad flicks off his klomp and wallops his adversary over the head. It has great weight in settling an argument.—National Geographic Magazine.

Woman Rules Home

I believe, as men generally do, that mothers are most responsible for management of children. It is in the nature of things; in their formative years, children are much more with mothers than with fathers. While the father is away hunting a dollar or a deer, he cannot possibly also control the children, and he is somewhat incapable when he returns, and his wife says: "I can do nothing with them; you try it."—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Seeress Gives Sleuth

Anti-Devil Medicine

New York.—Detective George Roberts' stomach-ache was caused by the fact that a man in Chicago was poisoning him with "graveyard dirt," and three women, living, respectively, in Chicago, New York and St. Louis, were casting a spell over him.

At least that was the diagnosis of Mrs. Cosmos Battle, and it resulted in her being sent to the workhouse for thirty days by Justice Kurochian, Caldwell and Walling in Special Sessions, on a charge of unlawfully practicing medicine. Both the woman and the detective are negroes.

For 500 Mrs. Battle concocted two bottles of liquid absolutely guaranteed to smoke the devil out of the detective. Being somewhat skeptical about possessing satanic qualities, Roberts arrested the woman.

Sasha Terrifies Town
Baltimore.—A rattlesnake more than six feet long was killed by residents of Westport after the community had been terrorized by the reptile, according to a report made to E. Lee Le Compe, state game warden.

MINN. COLLECTION OF EARS, TERRIFIES GYPSIES AGAIN

Using Chicago Gangland Methods Mo Rabs and Swindlers Harass Tribes in the Midwest.

Omaha, Neb.—Time Bimbo, the Al Capone of gypsyland, who is reported to collect the ears of his victims after he has ripped their bodies with machine gun bullets, has terrorized the nomad tribes in this vicinity with his Chicago gangland manners; and, in spite of a police dog net, still remains at large.

Powerful armored cars with hooded batteries of machine guns have been reported between Council Bluffs and Omaha by timorous witnesses who prayerfully ask that their names be kept secret. Even the heavy police guard proffered by local authorities failed to stop the nervous chills of the gypsy colony.

Bimbo, according to the leader of the Council Bluffs gypsy camp, is an Argentine gypsy and a second cousin of King Mitchell of the local tribe. He slipped over the Mexican border about twenty years ago and fell into bad company in Chicago. The activities of the Windy City seem to have given him some practical ideas for successful robbery and swindles among his own people—a field hitherto neglected by organized criminals.

It was his custom to swoop down on an unsuspecting encampment of gypsies and to declare himself king. Naturally the gypsies would object and flourish shot guns. But then Bimbo would get busy with his battery of machine guns; before he was through, a number of gypsies were ready for burial and the local treasury was empty.

Another racket successfully launched by Bimbo centers on his beautiful, marriageable daughter. According to the gypsies, she has been married at least a thousand times, each ceremony preceded by a rich payment; but, curiously enough, on each occasion she has been kidnaped immediately after the festivities with the aid of a battery of machine guns.

This enterprising "curse of the Roman world" is called sometimes "Head of Cabbage." When the spirit moves him, he walks into a gypsy camp and offers to sell a head of cabbage for $1,000 or so. Thanks to his reputation for ferocity and the obvious import of his machine guns, the deal usually goes through.

Investigation in Chicago revealed that Bimbo had appeared in court frequently in connection with confidence games, but was not regarded as a very tough gangster. His inability to impress the Chicago crime world is thought to have led him to practice his chosen profession in the outlying gypsy communities.

PENNSYLVANIA MAY BE MORE LIBERAL

Campaign for Modification of Blue Laws.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Determined to liberalize the Pennsylvania Blue Laws passed in 1794, an association has been formed between two of the principal organizations favoring modification of the law insofar as it affects Sunday amusements here.

The Anti-Blue Law Association of Pennsylvania, which, according to John Mather, chairman of its board of directors, represents more than 500,000 members, has merged with the Open Sunday League of Pennsylvania for the common cause. The latter organization claims to have 375,000 members.

In furtherance of the campaign of the combined organizations, the newspapers of the state, 30 per cent of which are said to favor liberalization of the law, are being canvassed to determine the attitude of the people of the state toward a proposed modification or repeal of the 1794 statutes.

Considerable impetus has been given the movement by a decision of the Dauphin County court at Harrisburg. The court, in effect, held that an individual can be penalized only to the extent of a $1 fine for violation of the Sunday closing law, and that the charter of an amusement park, for instance, cannot be revoked if held to an individual because an individual has no charter to revoke.

Calla Statute Laid to Rest.
The case considered the operations on Sunday of Woodside park, an amusement park near here. The proprietor was fined $1 and his paid every Monday while the park has been in operation. Officials of the Anti Blue Law association and Open Sunday League have pointed out that under the decision of the Dauphin county court the 1794 statutes constitute "class legislation" because while an individual can operate by paying a small fine, corporations, such as the Philadelphia baseball clubs, are not permitted to open, as they run the danger of one warrant proceeding.

The Athletics, Philadelphia American league club, had such an experience some time ago.

Mather holds that the decision of the court makes the 1794 statute "more ludicrous than ever."

"If the law permits an individual to play baseball or operate motion pictures on Sunday," Mather said, "then it is nothing more than class legislation when the same right is denied corporations."

Could Stop Trains.
"The law as it exists on the statute books at present could, if enforced, stop the railroad companies from operating trains, bar the operation of street cars, buses, automobiles, telephone, telegraph, and even radio, as all these are 'worldly business.'"

Pointing out that a "commercial Sunday" is not desired or welcomed by his organization, Mather declared that he is not so much concerned with the open or closed question as he is with the fact that Pennsylvania is under a "lagging stock" in other states which do not have such antiquated laws.

"The blue law of 1794 must be repealed or modified," Mather said. "Too long have the poor people been made to seek their recreation and pleasure in other states on Sunday. Pennsylvania drives its people and visitors out the latter part of the week. People who work here or six days a week are most surely entitled to some entertainment Sunday afternoon and evening."

Driven From a Palace

by Hawaiian Termites

Honolulu.—The termite, or "white ant," is no respecter of royalty or government. Ravages of this little insect are responsible for the temporary evacuation soon of Iolani palace, once home of Hawaiian kings and queens, by the officials of the territorial government of Hawaii.

Termites have so extensively bored into the woodwork of the interior of the palace that it is to be entirely remodeled in steel, concrete and plaster. Meanwhile the governor and department heads are looking for a place to move.

Iolani palace was built by order of King Kalakaua in 1878. At his death in 1891 Queen Liliuokalani took possession for the remainder of her reign which was terminated by the Republican revolution of 1898. It stands on the site of the original home of Kings Kamehameha III, IV and V. It cost $50,000 when built. It is a brick construction, with a facing of cement. The interior is finished in Hawaiian woods. Its throne room is said to be the only throne room under the United States flag.

Court Rules Husband

Is Head of Household

Dayton, Ohio.—The husband is the head of the household whether he likes it or not.

If he tells his wife to make home-brew and she gets arrested for doing it, the husband is the one to be punished.

Judge William C. Wiseman so ruled here when he pronounced Mrs. Daisy Lansing not guilty of manufacturing and possessing beer.

Dry raiders testified they found 45 bottles of "high-powered" beer in the Lansing home, which the wife claimed her husband directed her to make for him.

Battlefields Yield Harvest of Metal

Arras, France.—Farmers hereabouts that were battlefields are yielding a harvest of metal almost as valuable as their harvests of food.

Copper, lead and iron shot by the opposing armies were gathered by a peace time army of 5,000 men and women. Other thousands of boys and girls help out family budgets with their daily load of metal.

For ten years this has been going on and it probably will continue another five years. Every time a field is plowed or harrowed more metal comes to the surface.

The government, theoretically, owns all this but contractors have bought the right to it. There are crews of expert workers who pass from farm to farm, sometimes picking up the metal themselves and sometimes buying the heap already gathered by the farmer and his family.

A million pounds of copper and lead were found last year in one department. Of iron and steel there were seven times as much.

The enormous quantity of copper, thousands of tons, consists mostly of empty cartridges, an evidence of the millions and millions of shots fired by the armies that fought over this ground for more than four years.

Once in a while you find a man who likes to get up early and go down in the cold to start the fire, who doesn't mind the thought of his wife spending her day climbing up and down the basement stairs; and who is perfectly willing to dedicate his evenings to janitor work, trying to keep the temperature somewhere near the comfort level. . . . Adjourn Three Cases in Court

Louis Marshall, Jr., a negro residing at Steep Rocks, was arrested Thursday by Sergeant Phinney on a warrant sworn out by Marshall's mother-in-law, Mrs. Ella Courtwright, of 51 Moore street, who charged Marshall with failing to provide for his two small children, Lawrence, 4, and Ruth, 7 years old. The children are with the mother-in-law.

This morning in police court Marshall asked for a hearing and the case was adjourned to next Tuesday. Bail was fixed at $500.

William Ellsworth of 445 Wilbur avenue, who was arrested by his sister Thursday evening and turned over to the police, had his hearing adjourned to Saturday. His sister, Elizabeth Ellsworth, charged William with disorderly conduct. She charged that on Thursday night William had knocked her down and called her vile names.

Jerry Trefelt, of 46 Cedar street, arrested on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, asked for a further adjournment in court today, stating that he wanted to engage a lawyer. He said that since his arrest he had been in jail obtaining bail Thursday evening. Trefelt is accused of crashing into the car driven by Superintendent Frank Mills, of the board of public works, on Wilbur avenue. It is claimed Trefelt did not stop and he was caught later on North Front street.

American Christians

Although only about one-half the population of the United States is included in the membership of Christian churches, it is estimated that 80 per cent of the inhabitants hold the beliefs of Christians.

Jury Will Report Monday

Supreme court adjourned Thursday afternoon until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at which time the jury will report the evidence in the three actions brought by Anna Van Buren, Agnes Smith and Artemas W. Van Gaasbeek will report. The three cases were tried together, growing out of the same automobile accident, and the cases were submitted late in the afternoon to the jury. At a late hour the jurors were still in the jury room in an effort to come to a decision.

Miss Morrow to Teach in Mexico. Chicago, Oct. 11 (AP).—Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, has been selected to teach English to fifth graders in a Mexican City public school this fall. Miss Morrow is a sister-in-law of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. For several years Miss Morrow has taught in the Dwight School at Englewood, N. J. She had been studying Spanish and said she now felt able to teach Mexican children elementary English. Miss Morrow expects to leave for Mexico City soon.

THINK THAT TWO CHURCHES IN ONE BLOCK ARE PLENTY

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 11 (AP).—Because they felt that erection of another church in their block would make it "an intolerable place in which to live," residents of one neighborhood here have petitioned the city clerk to refuse a church a building permit.

The petition says there are two churches in the block and two more less than two blocks away and that it is proposed to construct a third in the block.

The document emphasized the desire of the community to "get some rest at night," which it said church crowds prevented.

Delve Into Secrets of Island of Madagascar

A great deal of mystery surrounds the picturesque island of Madagascar. It appears to be the timber crown of an old continent, but which, or perhaps better, where is the continent, asks a correspondent: "Some think that Madagascar has broken away from its mother continent, Africa; others that it is one of the relics of a hypothetical continent, 'Laurasia,' which existed long ago in the Indian ocean between Africa and India." This is not, as the casual reader might think, a passage from some romance of the lost lands of the world. It is merely an extract from an official document, circulated by the British museum to call attention to the fact that an expedition is now at work in Madagascar seeking the solution of some of its riddles. It is not, then, beyond the bounds of possibility that the scientists may yet send the world authentic tidings of a lost continent.

The Celibit

"My dear," remarked Mr. Pitt, as he sat at breakfast one morning, "I think there was a burglar in the house last night."

"Why do you think that?" asked his loving wife.

"Well," said he, "I left a lot of money in my pockets before I went to bed last night, but there's none there now."

"That's your own fault," she replied snappily. "You should have got up and shot the person. If you hadn't been such a coward, you wouldn't have lost your money."

"Yes, perhaps you're right, my dear; but then I didn't want to become a widower."—London Weekly Telegraph.

Looking Backward

There were some strange peoples in prehistoric Kentucky. Scientists in digging deep in Kentucky soil are said to have discovered evidence of two distinct groups of human beings existing in different ages and at different levels. One race buried its dead in stone chambers whilst another had granite altars for human sacrifice and burned their dead in pits of masonry. At any rate they seem to have had means of making fire, although they were here 10,000 years before cigar lighters were introduced. This is a dazed sight older country than we think and men with shovels turn up many surprises.—Los Angeles Times.

It Hurt

Ellen Terry, to everybody's surprise, left $120,000. A New York actress was talking about her.

"Her wit was sharp," the actress said. "Sometimes it was too sharp. It hurt."

"She and I and three or four other actresses were standing behind the scenes at a benefit in a Broadway theater one afternoon. A young and pretty actress said uncertainly:

"I don't think I'll sing, after all. I'm sure they don't expect me."

"Indeed they do expect you, darling," said Ellen Terry. "Don't you see they all love you?"

Solved

Four-year-old Bobby, perched on his father's knee in the crowded bus, looked hard at the stout, gruffly dressed woman in the bus and, with a sudden contemptuous, and wedged himself into the only seat left.

Then he turned to his mother.

"Mom," he said, loudly, "it's a lady."

"Bobby, Bobby, dear," mother checked him; "we know."

"But, mommy," Bobby was pointed out, "you just said to me, 'Whatever this object could be?'"

Parrot's Comment Apt

A doctor was giving a dinner party. His favorite parrot was in the room announced by some curtain.

During the meal one of the guests, a woman, was exceedingly voluble, and talked for several minutes without cessation.

When at last silence reigned, a surprised voice demanded from behind the curtain, "Let me see your tongue, please."

Suspends Charter Of Mine Workers

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 11 (AP).—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has suspended the charter of District 15, comprising the state of Illinois, and has set up a provisional district organization to carry on the activities of the organization.

The suspension order set forth acts of the old officers and executive board of the district, which it declared constituted a record "of maladministration, incompetency, dishonesty, misappropriation, defiance and insubordination" which could not be ignored by the international union.

Frank Hefferty of Coillaville, Ill., was appointed president of the provisional district.

RETURNED FOR BANK BOOKS—WERE BURNED TO DEATH.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Farano of this city were burned to death this morning when fire destroyed their home here. Their son, Patrick, 19, was overcome by smoke and died from the effects at a local hospital. A younger son of the couple was carried to safety by firemen. It was said Farano and his wife had reached the street safely following the outbreak of the fire, but had returned to get bank books.

Every used car has a value of its own

No two people drive a car the same way or give a car the same kind of attention.

That is why two used cars of the same make and model may represent very different values.

There are a lot of vital parts of an automobile that cannot be seen from the outside, and a "drive around the block" is not always sufficient to tell how a car performs.

When we offer a used car for sale we know all about it, and we never misrepresent it.

Present Offering includes all popular makes.

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—The stock market opened with powerful bullish demonstrations in selected issues today by traders who placed an optimistic interpretation on last from traders who found the loan decrease disappointingly small, but initial losses were fractional. United States Steel sagging 1/2 point.

American Water Works jumped 1 point. Radio 2 1/2 and American International, Corn Products, Sears Rothrock, Consolidated Gas, Standard of New Jersey and General

Public Utilities were again in brisk demand. American Telephone, Brooklyn Union Gas, American Power and Light and Columbia Gas rising 2 points or more while International Telephone and several others advanced a drop or more.
Eastman Kodak dropped 4 points.
National Bellas Hess 2 and New York Central and Nash Motors each yielded a point.

Pocketbook Was Returned.

Deputy Sheriff P. W. Wells, who is attending the October term of supreme court as a court officer, picked up a pocketbook in the court house a few days ago. Not knowing just what to do he notified Judge Russell and District Attorney Traver. In the pocketbook was a sum of money and the address of Mrs. H. Fairbairn, Arden. Later Mr. Wells returned the money to the owner after identification had been established.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs.

Monroe-Runk.

In Christ Episcopal Church, Marlborough on Sunday afternoon at 5, the rector, the Rev. Leighton Williams, solemnized the marriage of Miss Edna C. Runk of 135 Renwick street, Newburgh, and Duncan Monroe of Marlborough. The church had been decorated with gladioli of pink and white, together with ferns. There was a musical program by the organist of the church. The matron of honor, Mrs.
James Kinsley of Newburgh, sister of the bride, led the procession. She was followed by the bride who entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. The bride and her attendant were met at the

The bride was prettily gowned in white Elizabethan crepe, made over white bridal satin. The bodice was of close fitted lines, and the skirt was of an uneven hemline, the points being of petal shape. She wore a silk net veil, with trimmings of lace arranged from a cap held in beautiful lace handkerchief which was carried by her grandmother, the late Mrs. John Runk, more than 75 years ago. The matron of honor was also attractive in an afternoon gown of royal blue flannel, which was enhanced with trimmings of ecru lace. She wore a picture hat of royal blue, and slippers of blue.

Her gloves and hose were of ecru.
She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Following the ceremony wedding supper was served. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Monroe left for Paterson, N. J., where they will spend their honeymoon. They will be at home to their many

Newton's Humility

I do not know what I may appear to the world, but to myself I seem to have been only like a boy playing on the seashore and diverting myself in now and then finding a smoother pebble or a prettier shell than ordinary, while the great ocean of truth lay all undiscovered before me.—Isaac Newton (1642-1727), Brewster's Newspaper.

Tribute To Huggins.
The crowd arose and stood in silence for one minute as a tribute to the late Miller Huggins, who at this time last year led the Yankees to a world's championship.

Cubs—McMillan fanned.

English went out on a roller, Bishop to Foss.
Hornsby fanned. No runs, no hits,
no errors, none left.
Athletics—Bishop went out on a fly to Grimm in short right field.
Haas singled to center, Bush jumping out of the way as the vicious drive passed the box. Cochrane hit a fly to Stephenson in short left. Haas ran back to first. Simmons hit to English and Haas was forced to Hornsby. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Second Inning.

field and ran to third base by the time the ball was returned. Cuyler and Dykes ran to third while Boley took second on the throw. Earnshaw up. Dykes scored on a steal of home as Bush wound up. Moran reversed his decision and called shaw, retiring the side. No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Ship Rams Whale;

Backs to Get Free

Yarmouth, Nova Scotia—Kamming into a whale in hard that it was necessary to stop the ship and go on to free the carcass was the experience of officers of the steamer Yarmouth recently.

At 4 a. m. Second Officer Prime, on the bridge, felt a shake the ship. It was soon as if the Yarmouth had run into a huge much back and the ship kept moving forward.

With the aid of powerful lights officers saw the black back of the mammal, some 50 feet in length, firmly fixed to the bow.

As the ship stopped and marked the body of the whale rolled over on its back and drifted away.

Third Game of Series Today At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Oct. 11 (AP)—Connie Mack, the patriarch of baseball, today brought a world's series to Philadelphia, after a wait of 15 years, and with it the chance to ship him a statue in the Hall of Fame never before completed.

If the White Elephants can complete the task, already half completed, of turning the Chicago Cubs back, he will become the first manager to win four world's series. The staff Connie won his last 16 years ago for he was defeated in four straight games in 1914 when the Boston Braves stunned the baseball world by stopping his super team.

Only one other living man has won baseball's richest prize three times. John J. McGraw, of the Giants. The late Miller Huggins also led the Yankees to three supreme triumphs.

Coming to his home grounds with a two-game lead in the sixth series in which he has participated, Mr. Mack urged his young men to try hard for the two games needed to reduce the series to the minimum. He has not forgotten the crushing humiliation of 1914 when the A's could not win a game from the Braves, a team generally regarded by baseball followers before the big war as "cheap" and "lucky."

With both games played in Chicago credited to the American League, the Athletics faced a great chance to take a place by the Braves and Yankees as the only two teams to utterly rout the opposition in four victories, unmarred by even a game.

Philadelphia took the returning heroes, and the grand old man at their head, into its arms with a roar of welcome. "Attabor, Connie" was the shout of greeting, enthusiastic although undignified salutation. It seemed that was just the way he felt.

Connie Mack had every one but Emke available for duty. The tar-paulin manufacturer from Silver Creek, N. Y., needs more than two days between games, two weeks is closer to his preference.

Old Jack Quinn, with a slow ball, hook and splitter, Rube Walberg, boasting a curve that pops, Eddie Rummel, the knuckle ball expert, Bill Shores, the freshman of the pitching staff, George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove all are in receptive mood, standing right out in the middle of the baseball storm, waiting for the lightning to strike.

Grove had a slightly bruised hand and Earnshaw was a more likely choice for later in the series. With say on but Mack little consideration would be given the youthful Shores, but old timers recalled that in 1913, after pitching Bender and Plank in the first two games, the midget of the herd called on "Bullet Joe" Bush, then a youngster.

Only about 35,000 persons can pay to see the third game of the series, as for the great majority of the fans the game today will not be different from the two preceding at Chicago. They had to stand or sit on a soap box in front of a newspaper score board or draw up an easy chair to a radio.

The Cubs had their supporters who traveled nearly 1,000 miles to cheer them on. The Chicago fans came by special trains, hoping to see Hershby, Cuyler and other early disappointments snap out of their slump.

The first World Series for Philadelphia in 15 years brought out the old guard, back from the yesterday's baseball, to see the modern version of the Athletics, in the game's add test.

The Mordecai Browns, Johnny Rags, Jimmy Archers, Joe Tinkers and the rest looked at the Cubs in Chicago and shook their heads. In Philadelphia the Chief Benders, Home Run Bakers, Harry Davies and others will see how the young fellows have taken up the baseball torch they dropped when forced from the stage by the relentless years.

Weather forecasts for today said nothing about rain in the neighborhood.

Major Elevens Will Be Seen in Action Saturday

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—This business of manufacturing touchdowns, a booming industry the last two Saturdays, will experience a sharp drop in production tomorrow as major elevens start to pick on someone their own size.

Eastern coaches have had weeks of preliminary drilling and a couple of Saturdays of practice contests to iron out their football wrinkles. How well they've succeeded should be known rather definitely tomorrow.

Pittsburgh's mighty Panther array, victors over Waynesburg and Duke by lopsided scores, gets its first real test of the season against West Virginia with the odds all in favor of Jock Sutherland's Panthers.

Fordham clashes with New York University in the most important contest in the metropolitan sector with high hopes of averaging last year's 34-7 defeat. Navy views Notre Dame's invasion for their fray at Baltimore with considerable apprehension for Roebuck has another great team and the Midshipmen showed nothing in particular in beating William and Mary last week. Syracuse awaits the coming of Dana Bible's Nebraska Cornhuskers with a calmness born of confidence but it would be difficult to discover which fears the other the most in the Princeton-Brown debate at Tigertown. Both have made unimpressive starts but the Tigers appear to have the edge.

Colgate, Army, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Georgetown are prepared for intercollegiate foes rated as no more than mildly dangerous. Colgate appears to have the toughest assignment in battling Michigan State. Penn meets Virginia Poly; Cornell faces Hampden-Sydney which held the Ithacans to an 18-6 score last year. Army plays Davidson, and Georgetown locks horns or heads with St. Louis.

The Bulldogs of Yale do their snarling against Georgia at Athens, Ga., much further south than a Bulldog has been found before. Swarthmore adds to the intercollegiate fun with a game against Virginia at Charlottesville. Carnegie Tech does some traveling on its own hook, meeting Western Reserve at Cleveland where Grove City also represents the so-called east against John Carroll, delegates of the so-called west.

Bucknell and Washington and Jefferson, who battled to a scoreless tie last season, renew their dispute at Lewisburg, Pa., and Boston College and Villa Nova, two of the best teams in the east last year, clash at Boston. Davis and Elkins, safely past the first three hurdles of an ambitious schedule, takes on Geneva at Beaver Falls, Pa.

Some of the east's major colleges will content themselves with another tune-up contest. Harvard plays New Hampshire; Columbia takes on Wesleyan; Dartmouth meets Allegheny; and Penn State will do its scoring against Marshall.

Holy Cross may find Rutgers a much tougher nut to crack than it was last year and Williams expects no easy time with a good Bowdoin eleven. Amherst meets a sturdy foe in Lowell Textile.

Lehigh has a 7-0 defeat by Gettysburg in 1928 to wipe out if possible. St. Bonaventure appears likely to give Temple trouble but Franklin and Marshall should win handily from Lebanon Valley.

Colgate veterans are seven backs, six ends, five tackles, two guards and four centers.

Joe Boden, All-American in 1923, and a former captain at Penn State, is coaching the linemen there.

Do not resent suggestions from the outsider. The man in the grandstand sees more than the players.

Stars from last year's freshman team will round out the backfield at Washington and Jefferson college this fall.

The Quantico Marines make regular trips to College Park, Md., to scrimmage with the University of Maryland team.

Two industrial teams at Wall Lake, Minn., recently played an all-day endurance game of kitten-ball, starting at 6 a. m.

Stanley (Bucky) Harris will manage the Detroit Tigers again in 1930, having signed another one-year contract with officials of the local team.

Saul Mielziner, star guard of Carnegie Tech's football team last season, has signed to play with the New York professional football Giants this year.

In a new detective novel by Brian Flynn, the murder victim is found in the library. A tentative theory is the affair was the outcome of a kelly pool game.

Art Cumming, former Minnesota state horseshoe pitching champion, also stars at basket ball, baseball, bowling, football, golf and other sports.

Because George Payne of Wichita Falls didn't mind pitching whenever called upon, and that was plenty, the city fans presented him with $100.

Foreign heavyweights average 15 pounds heavier than the present crop of American heavyweights. Campolo and Scott are two of the biggest invaders.

Philadelphia high schools have inaugurated the system of paid coaches this year. Previously teams were coached by instructors who received no salary.

Nineteen lettermen and unseasonably good freshmen of last year given Bill Margha plenty of material to pick an eleven at Kansas. This is Margha's second year there.

Player Finds Supposed Enemy Is Real Friend

The story is told that Donnie Bush, a Fast World player, was up to the press camp last year looking for a writer who had been very complimentary to him. He said he wanted to catch him in the act.

It was not the first occasion of the press camp that had been made up of players and the writers had gotten to the point where they could handle such emergencies without blushing.

Bush patted him on the back and said: "You're a good fellow." "He didn't come out today," Bush said, looking up, recognized the writer, and said: "He didn't come out today."

Bush was threatened by a moment, and the writer said: "Sit down and enjoy yourself." He bought the writer some pop and peanuts and they had a good time.

The writer got up to leave in the eighth inning. After he had gone Bush turned to another writer and said: "See how, who is he?" "That," another writer, "is the guy you came up here to whip."

Captain of Middies

L. L. Keopke of the class of 1930 of the United States Naval Academy, who has been chosen as captain of the team for the coming season. Captain Keopke is twenty-three years old and plays guard on the team.

Legion Rules Baseball In Game for Boys Only

Girls have been barred from further participation in the American Legion's national baseball tournament.

A year ago Legion officials were almost panic-stricken when they discovered that fifteen-year-old Margaret Glavo was the regular first baseman on the Blanford, Ind., team, entered in the tourney.

The veterans pondered long, but could find no rule for keeping out the girl, who was the star of the team. She played.

This year, however, the rules were amended so that only boys were eligible. The rule will stand, it was added, it being decided that baseball was only for boys, anyway.

Yellow Jackets Will Hold Final Practice Tonight

A light scrimmage tonight in the rear of the armory will complete the Yellow Jackets' training for their Sunday afternoon game with the West Point Artillery at the Kingston Fair Grounds.

The Kingston players have mastered a set of plays that they hope will completely baffle the soldier gridders and help them to continue their winning stride started last Sunday when they whipped Beacon, 13-0.

Coaches Carl Preston and "Watt" Wheeler have not decided upon a starting lineup for Sunday, but it is presumed that the same group that received Beacon's kickoff last week will be under fire when Referee Oleson's whistle sets the players in action at 3 p. m.

Captain Pensare of the Artillery, who has his lineup ready so the grid war likely will begin with the following men on the field:

Pos. Yellow Jackets Artillery
L.E. Schaefer Evans
L.T. Kennedy Perry
L.G. "Big" Winkley Hammors
C. Howard Young
R.G. Rose Pensare, Capt.
R.T. Terwilliger Berry
R.E. Rice Ruffer
Q.B. Stumpf Moran
L.H. Hoffman, Capt. Shannon
R.H. Chapman Tennararo
P.B. Beany Perley

Svirsky, Brady, DuBois and Atkins will be ready to enter the game as Yellow Jackets subs. They figured in last Sunday's playing in a manner that proved them capable men.

In fact some of them might start the game with the Artillery, the exact lineup having yet to be named. The soldiers will have 15 substitutes according to word sent the Yellow Jacket managers.

Illinois has 20 letter men for another Big Ten grid championship.

Michigan gridmen, who finished in 1928 with a rush, are nearly all back.

Nineteen football letter men are back at Indiana, but Chuck Bennett isn't.

Trapshooters in the United States use upward of 70,000,000 clay pigeons a year.

New York university has a stiff grid schedule and no Lanesman or Strong around.

Eighteen members of this year's football squad at Colgate stand six feet or taller and average 185 pounds.

Ty Cobb was the batting champion of the American league in twelve seasons, Honus Wagner in the National, eight seasons.

After all, sports writing has its rewards. A caddy at Westwood club, Richmond, Va., answers to the name of Grantland Rice.

Glenn Liebhardt, Jr., a pitcher and Newell (Bud) Morse, infielder, have been sold by the Des Moines club of the Western league to the Philadelphia Athletics.

The prince of Wales is showing remarkable improvement in his golfing game, recently scoring 80 for a round at Coombe Hill course, one of the best London links.

Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher of the Athletics, was a star back in 1909 when he won fourteen out of sixteen games for the Richmond club. The other two games were ties.

Glenna Collett, longest driver among women golfers in the United States, uses a club that weighs only twelve and one-half ounces. Helen Hicks swings a fourteen-ounce stick.

They claim the material in the lively ball is the same as formerly, the difference being in the way the yarn is wound. Er—could they wind the yarn any tighter in the young infielders?

"Pittsburgh Phil" Smith, one of the greatest plungers in the history of horse racing, is the only outstanding gambler who beat the game and died in the possession of more than $2,000,000.

Jake Schaefer, 182 balkline billiard champion, recently scored a hole in one while playing golf at the Orinda C C San Francisco. Schaefer performed his feat on the 177-yard twelfth hole.

Jim Ten Eyck, coach of the Syracuse crew, is the dean of the shell mentors. Ten Eyck is seventy-seven and is believed to be the oldest active instructor in any form of athletics in the world.

Portland sold three shortstops in one season. After Wacstling went to the Tigers and Cronin to the A's, Joe Hassler was sold to the Baltimore Orioles. He had recently been taken from the A's.

A cricket playing board has been invented by an Australian. Fashioned along the lines of the baseball player board, it reproduces the action in a cricket match for fans who are unable to attend the contest itself.

When Christy Mathewson was pitching, Frank Powerman caught some of his games for the New York Giants. Now Powerman is story and owns a large fruit farm in Michigan, but he still plays occasionally with the local team.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould, (Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It seems to be a good idea to employ the Owen J. (Donnie) Bush for the treatment of baseball players' feet.

Dr. Bush's latest case is the White Sox, one of the most severe features of which is The Great Series. Donnie Blackburne, who had charge of the Sox for the last year and a half, apparently could do nothing to arrest the malignancy or the waning of Shires. Blackburne lost two games to his first baseman, and even in the clubhouse. The Great Series, it is said, will be added to the Sox's list of misfortunes.

Donnie was brought up in the rough and tough school of baseball. He learned how to handle himself with the old timers in the days when the Sox was considered lost that did not end up in a few playful punches in the clubhouse. The Great Series, it is said, will be added to the Sox's list of misfortunes.

Donnie stepped into the manager's job at Pittsburgh three years ago after the Pirates had staged an open rebellion. He had a troublesome crew to handle but won a pennant in 1927 and kept the team up in the race in spite of injuries and bad breaks during the next two seasons.

Now Donnie faces the task of trying to rebuild or revive the Sox machine after it had gone through just ten years of misfortune. Somehow or other, no leader, no amount of money has succeeded in putting the Sox back in the pennant picture since the memorable 1919 scandal. Kid Gleason gave up the job after four years.

Frank Chance's health failed him as he was about to take over the management in 1924 and Johnny Evers failed to keep the club out of the cellar. Eddie Collins did fairly well in two seasons but was replaced in 1927 by Ray Schalk, who passed over the reins to Blackburne after a year and a half.

Bush, therefore, is the seventh Sox pilot in eight years. He faces anything but an easy job but it will be interesting to see what his aggressive fighting spirit, his determination and courage can accomplish. With the Cubs enjoying the peak of popularity in Chicago, it will take drastic measures, money and results to restore the Sox to fandom's favor.

The variety of football entertainments for New York this fall includes a visit by the University of Georgia Bulldogs for the first time, to meet N. Y. C. and Pennsylvania's first appearance on a metropolitan gridiron in eight years. Penn comes to the big town to play Columbia.

Back in 1921 Penn tied Dartmouth 14-14, at the Polo Grounds in one of the most unusual finishes on record. With the Green leading, 14-7, the linesman who acted as timekeeper ran on the field, misleading the crowd into thinking the game was over and setting off a Dartmouth celebration. There was actually three minutes to play and the premature outburst was checked when the Quakers, from the 40-yard line, marched to a touchdown that was scored in the final few seconds by Captain Rex Wray, who then kicked the goal for the tying point.

Armory Bouts Start Indoor Season Tonight

The stage is set for the opening of the indoor boxing season at the armory tonight, when Harry Matthews will square off against the champion of New York and New Jersey.

Will clash in the feature attraction of each round. The first round will mark the fourth meeting of the two lightweights Matthews, having the upper hand because of his victories over Zinna in their last match.

Nick contemplates an evening match with the class New Yorker tonight. He believes his condition is right and that he will have no trouble in staying eight rounds with Matthews.

Goldsmith Couldn't Dictate. Dictation is no new thing, though commoner today than of old. A friend of Oliver Goldsmith once suggested to him that he use the services of an amanuensis, to avoid the physical labor of writing. He tried it. It did not work. He peered up and down the room while the amanuensis sat and waited for the words to be set down. At last Goldsmith turned to him, put the agreed-on fee into his hand, and dismissed him with these words: "I won't do, my friend. I find that my head and my last must work together."

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

HATS HAVE GONE BACKWARD—
BUT NOT IN CHUK

New York—Is nothing that a woman wears is there a greater change than in her hat. Hats have become distinctly dressy in character and varied enough to suit all sorts and conditions of woman.

The dominant note is the off-the-face movement, which gives an entirely different aspect to the face. Its line should of course conform to the costume silhouette. The long side or back, or the irregular line, contributes sufficient softness to counteract the somewhat harsh line resulting from the exposed forehead. For this purpose, the little eye veil is also useful.

While the usual quota of all black hats is being worn by smart women, there is often a glittering pin to offset their sombreness.

Felt with agate, or with gabrak, is one expression of this idea. Gabrak and other fur hats are expected to be very strong throughout the winter season.

(Copyright, 1929, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Eleanor Gunn Says

That the bolero is cleverly introduced this fall as an aid to suggesting a raised waistline without actually raising the line.

For formal afternoon wear the long tunic in rich, and often brilliant, color worn over a contrasting skirt offers an acceptable change. These tunics are frequently fur bordered.

The acceptance of black, frequently relieved by white, is unquestioned judging from women seen at fashionable luncheon and tea places.

The off-the-forehead hat, with a wide side, or long black line is unquestionably the season's choice.

Woolly angora tams are not only worn out of town, but are seen in the most unexpected places.

The majority of black hats worn are offset by a brilliant pin.

Knubbed tweeds, very smart just now, are inclined toward button trimmings and an accented waistline.

Sheer dark brown silk stockings are being played up in most hosiery departments as the most desirable fall color.

For sports wear wool mesh stockings, with and without clocks, rival wools with jacquard patterns.

Contrasting black heels and clocks on light hose are another autumnal novelty.

The fur trimmed suit is highly approved.

Beaver and otter are well toward the top of a list of fashionable furs.

The short fur coat for evening is smarter than the full length one, ermine being no exception.

Tucks and Plaits Used to Feature Chic Dress

Two Representative Models Showing the Trend Toward Long Side and Back Effects, the Shallowness of Crowns and the Off-the-Face Movement. Both Models. Executed in Soliel.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild)

It seems impossible to give any particular color as the millinery favorite since it is still highly important that the hat and dress are identical in color. There are of course endless browns, purples, blues and reds with greens and grays by way of variety, but these are not a wise choice unless they are worn with costumes of kindred hue, or are linked to one or more of the accessories. A black hat is always a safe and usually a flattering choice. The omnipresent combination of dull and shiny surfaces remains a universal favorite.

What could be smarter than this tucked and planted wool dress of the new Kelly green? The belt may be placed low, or at the normal waistline, if one wishes to follow the mode.

Lingerie Collars
There is a pronounced revival of the so-called lingerie touch in daytime costumes. Especially will this be true of the autumn mode for the majority of frocks are very much colored and cuffed, adorned with lace, georgettes, silks and batistes for a light finish at neck and wrists, one or both.

"COLLEGE ON WHEELS" REACHES PACIFIC

Cooks enrolled in the summer courses of Catawba college, Salisbury, N. C., have reached Los Angeles in their tour across the United States, bringing their own baggage, dining cars, "pullmans," library and everything necessary to camping and classroom. Placing special emphasis on courses in geology, physical and commercial geography, the students receive eight units of college credit for the tour to the Pacific coast under the extension division of their university. The photograph shows the cavalcade of cars in the "college on wheels" as it entered Los Angeles.

CLEANERS USEFUL ON AUTOMOBILES

Small Device Removes Dirt and Dust Before Reaching Carburetor.

(By H. O. KAMRATH, Research Engineer.)
Stirring up a whirl of dust as he approached swiftly on a gravel road, the motorist came to a stop in front of a country store. His car was covered with dust—there had been no rain for two weeks.

"Enough dust to injure your engine," the venerable storekeeper, who had come over, remarked.

"No," the motorist replied as he started away. "An air cleaner takes care of that."

Something New.
"An air cleaner?" the storekeeper pondered inquiringly, turning to me.

"Yes," I replied, "aren't you familiar with air cleaners?" Car builders for several years have been using them to protect the engine's life.

"No," the storekeeper admitted, "but I do know from what I've seen and heard that cars nowadays go very much farther before it is necessary to overhaul the engine. I can remember when overhauling was a most a week's routine."

So being on my vacation and having plenty of time, I told him much about this interesting engineering development.

"The air cleaner," I explained, "is a small device that attaches to the carburetor. It removes dirt and dust before it reaches the carburetor and does its work so thoroughly that damage from this cause is negligible."

However, if the dirt and dust were permitted to enter the engine, it would form on the cylinder walls and becoming mixed with the lubricating oil, serious wear would result.

Two Kinds of Cleaners.
"Two kinds of air cleaners are used on automobiles, the centrifugal type and the 'oil wetted.' In the former, dirt and dust are separated from the air by means of centrifugal force, the principle being exactly the same as that used in the well known cream separator. The latter type is a circular can filled with thin copper wire mesh, which is wetted with oil. The dust in the incoming air adheres to the oily surface and is thus prevented from entering the engine."

"Recently engineers inspected an automobile that had been run 20,000 miles. No valves had been replaced or ground, no new rings or pistons had been put in, not an engine bearing had been taken up. None of these things was necessary; no bearing knocks; oil and gasoline mileage satisfactory. In fact the engine was just nicely run in. The 'air cleaner,' together with the oil filter, made this possible."

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Automobile drivers may look around the corner with a periscope recently placed on the market in Berlin.

The Netherlands East Indies has become automobile struck and last year 8,829 American-made cars were shipped there.

To take care of the many automobiles at the World Foot journey, many trees were cut down to provide parking space.

Automobiles shipped by rail brought a revenue of $103,738,938 to railroads in 1928, according to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

The East North Central states have 23 per cent of the motor vehicle registrations, while the Middle Atlantic states rank next with 22 per cent.

The idea of some car owners that it is all right to drive on a flat tire to the nearest service station is correct. It is not a chance worth taking in this day of hollow tires.

Invited to Meet With Committee

The Tree Committee of this city, Sidney K. Clapp, chairman, which has been busy this fall getting ready plans for actual city work along tree lines is now ready for a co-operative meeting with the women from the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs. While Mr. Clapp and some of the city officials including the Mayor have visited the site for the proposed city tree nursery, in connection with the playground and city baseball field at Hazbrouck and Delaware Avenue, all are invited to inspect the location and work together in planning and operating this basis for city beautifying. The Mayor, City Engineer Codwise, Corporation Council M. H. Flemming and Mr. Clapp have looked over the ground and now it is asked that the Federation Tree Committee and a second representative from each affiliated club of the Federation and the Public Health Committee, meet Wednesday afternoon, October 16, at 2:30 o'clock at the grounds and devote a short time to practical consideration of the problem involved, that of starting a city nursery where small trees suitable and desirable for planting in the city and along the street and roadways may be started and made ready for the final planting.

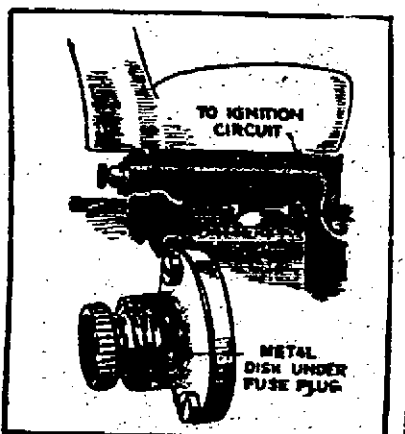

Wild Bison Increase
Sweden's stock of wild bison is now the largest in Europe, if not in the world, according to Alarik Behm, director of the open-air museum of Skansen, in Stockholm. By means of protective legislation these animals are thriving in the vast bison park at Aengelsberg, in the province of Vastmanland, and are rapidly multiplying.

"Dark Car" Menace Very Dangerous to Motorists

There is a serious menace confronting every driver that could easily be avoided if car owners would use a little bit of thoughtfulness in the late evening, says the National Automobile club. This is the menace of the "dark car" whose owner has failed to turn on his lights as soon as darkness approaches.

Twilight becomes a definite menace when many drivers are negligent of one of the simplest precautionary measures in the decalogue of motoring. "Turn on your light" has become one of the most frequent signals to be seen on the roads of late.

It is not only an eerie thing, but a dangerous thing as well to suddenly see looming out of the obscurity ahead one of these "dark cars" whose driver seemingly is "cat eyed" and therefore does not require the assistance of his own lights or the lights of approaching cars.

Must Have Auto Under Control at Crossings

The Supreme court of Nebraska has ruled that it is the duty of the driver of an automobile to have it under such control that when he reaches a point to see and hear an approaching train he can stop his car and avoid a collision at the crossing. The court held that failure to do so is negligence more than slight and will defeat recovery of damages on the part of the automobileist. This is a rule the railroad companies have been asking for, in view of the large number of automobile accidents at grade crossings, a large percentage of which could have been averted through the exercise of even ordinary care on the part of the driver of the car.
